CONKLIN COUNSEL LASH GOOD, BRYAN

Britain Balks At U.S. Suggestion To Pay With Goods

JURY TO BEGIN DELIBERATIONS ON CASE TODAY

Beghtol Assails Governor For Failing To Testify In Land Commissioner's Trial — Labels Attorney General As "Tool" Of Executive In Instigating Charges.

Vitriolic attacks on Governor Bryan and Attorney General Good formed the essence of defense attorneys' closing arguments Wednesday to the jury in State Land Commissioner Harry P. Conklin's conspiracy to defraud the state trial in District court.

Attorneys Max V. Beghtol and Glen Foe repeatedly lashed the governor and attorney general as the alleged instigators of the Conklin prosecution. The brunt of the attorneys' onslaught fell on Governor Bryan. After the 2½ hours of defense arguments in the morning, there remained 58 minutes of the state's argument time for County Attorney Max G. Towle to reply to the defense at the afternoon session. Assistant Attorney General William Wright used the rest of the state's time in arguments Tuesday afternoon.

Expect Submission At 3:15.

Towle's argument and Judge Frost's instructions were expected to be completed to put the case in the jury's hands about 3:15 o'clock.

Beghtol opened his argument with the declaration that "this case has everything—drama, climaxes, base vile motives of men, humor, tragedy and cowardice."

"Governor Bryan has exhibited the most abject cowardice," Beghtol declared. "He sulks in his office for three weeks and doesn't show up here because he doesn't want to answer under oath questions he knew I would ask. A governor who would hatch up a scheme and make the attorney general his tool, and then not show up is, I say, a coward, and I don't care what office he holds."

Insists Case Political.

Foe had previously challenged Wright's statement that the Conklin trial is not a political fight. "It is a political case," the defense attorney declared, "and not because we made it one. It became a political case when Bryan and Good conceived it. Conklin has already paid the penalty Bryan started out to inflict. He has ended his political career."

Beghtol dwelt at length on the various qualities he said had been injected in the case. "Take humor," he commented. "Here is Paul Good.

BETTER OUTLOOK NORTHEAST AREA

Gramlich Gets Cheering Reports; Some Buying Feeder Cattle.

While moisture conditions in the northwestern part of Nebraska appear to be deficient, cheering notes of improvement in crop conditions in the northeastern section reached Prof. H. J. Gramlich of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture Wednesday as he attempted to get a true picture of the drouth in putting the government's cattle buying program into affect.

Clay Westcott, agricultural agent in Cuming county, reported that the recent 5 inches of rain there is helping the situation materially. Some farmers are even buying feeder cattle. In Cedar county Myrle White reported an improvement while Herman Staley in Thurston said the same.

Indications, however, today pointed more toward including Box

ROOSEVELT WILL CONFER ON PLAN TO AVERT STRIKE

Hope to Rush Labor Legislation Through Congress This Week.

WASHINGTON, June 13— (AP) — The administration hoped today to reach an agreement on labor legislation which might avert the steel strike threatened for next Saturday.

At a White House conference, President Roosevelt and administration leaders planned to decide on the final form of a measure to give the NRA labor board temporary powers.

Under this decision, the Wagner bill for a permanent labor board to settle industrial disputes would be postponed until next session, thus averting a long controversy and facilitating adjournment.

President Roosevelt offered no comment at his press conference on the substitute labor bill or the steel strike.

Additional powers for the national labor board are the keynote of the new measure, a stop-gap substitute for the Wagner labor disputes bill. Parts of the latter to which industry objected most strongly are expected to be dropped.

Workers Vote Today.

PITTSBURGH, June 13— (AP) — Men who work in the mills and carry membership cards of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers are voting today on whether to carry out a proposed nationwide steel strike.

Mrs. Frances Barber Dies at Grand Island

University Place Resident For 25 Years; Was Mother of O. A. Barber.

Mrs. Barber.

Mrs. Frances Morgan Barber, 77, wife of George H. Barber, former assistant in the Lancaster county treasurer's office, died at her home in Grand Island at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning.

She was a former University Place resident and lived in the suburb 25 years before going to Grand Island two years ago. Funeral services will be held at Grand Island Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and the body will be brought to Lincoln by Castle, Roper & Matthews for interment in Wyuka cemetery. Myrtle chapter No. 94, O. E. S. will have charge of services at the grave and Rev. George M. Gates will officiate.

Surviving are her husband in Grand Island; two sons, O. A. Barber of Lincoln and Fred E. of Elm Creek; two daughters, Mrs. E. H. Vieregg of Grand Island and Mrs. Alfred D. Bryan of Frederick, Okla., and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Barber was a member of Myrtle chapter, O. E. S. and the First M. E. church here.

PROTEST GROUP SUGGESTS ROPE FOR HUEY LONG

Economy and Reform Demands Hurled at Louisiana Administration.

THOUSANDS GATHER AT BATON ROUGE

Threaten to Return With Pistols Unless Tax Ultimatum Heeded.

BATON ROUGE, La., June 13— (AP)—"No more taxes—or else!"

With full-throated roars of approval for suggestions that the "else" might include pistols and the noose, a statewide protest meeting hurled demands for economy and reform at Senator Huey Long and the state administration.

The thousands attending the meeting last night adopted a set of resolutions telling Louisiana's lawmakers what is expected of them.

The legislature is considering a "property tax relief" program for which Senator Long stumped part of the state and this was the bullseye of the attack. It would substitute special levies for present taxes, but speakers and resolutions demand property tax relief without additional taxation.

"If it is necessary to teach them decency at the end of a hempen rope, I for one am willing to swing the rope," asserted Mayor George W. Hardy, jr., of Shreveport.

"Call to Arms" Threatened.

"The next summons must and will be a call to arms unless the present protest is heeded," he said.

"How many of you will come back to Baton Rouge if the demands we

SEND REVISED CORN-HOG PACTS

First Batch is Forwarded To Washington By A. E. Anderson.

Lancaster County Contracts are Rechecked and Readjusted.

First Nebraska corn-hog contracts Wednesday were on their way to Washington after revised figures to conform to estimates of the state board of review had been submitted. The first county was Dakota, A. E. Anderson, chairman of the review board, announced.

He said the county's transmittal sheets for early payment of corn-hog contracts were relayed immediately to Washington. The early payment contracts provide for partial payment in the near future instead of waiting for full payment of the first benefit payment in the program next fall.

Anderson said W. F. Callandar, principal federal agricultural statistician who is in charge of the division of crop and livestock estimates in the department of agriculture at Washington, will be here tomorrow to confer with the state corn-hog review board concerning the special drouth work and details of the adjustment program.

Some Big Reductions.

The Nebraska chairman also revealed that the highest reduction ordered in county figures was 48 per cent. He said a number of western Nebraska counties with few hogs had nearly a 50 per cent overstatement.

"What happens," he says, "is that if a farmer out there only had one litter and he tried to pad in another he has about a 100 per cent overstatement, while an eastern Nebraska farmer with lots of litters can try to slip in one or two extra without increasing his percentage materially."

Anderson said Wayne, Thurston, and Cuming counties are about in

Mother Dies in a Suicide Pact, But Daughter Survives

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., June 13— (AP)—Preferring death together to the chance that one of them would die on the operating table, a wealthy matron and her 22-year-old daughter today tied their bodies together with clothes lien an swam out in Lake Michigan.

Five hours later the girl and her dead mother, still tied together, were found on the beach.

The drowned woman was Mrs. Alice King Bott, 53, divorced.

Her daughter, Margaret, after being revived said she had recently undergone two operations for mastoid trouble. A third operation, she said, had been ordered and she and her mother feared she would not survive it, and they entered into the suicide pact.

They tied themselves together and swam into the lake. About three-quarters of a mile out, the daughter said, she discovered her mother was dead. With the desire that their bodies be found and buried, she said, she turned and started swimming back toward shore, towing the body of her mother.

The young woman succeeded in getting all the way back to shore, then collapsed unconscious.

SEVEN CARS ON BOOSTER JAUNT

Invite People of Southeast Nebraska to Lincoln Celebration.

A caravan of seven cars pulled away from the Cornhusker hotel shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday morning bearing Lincoln's invitation to towns in the southeast section of the state to participate in the Greater Lincoln celebration Friday.

Following the police car driven by Capt. Paul Shively and carrying a public address system was the automobile carrying City Commissioners Oberlies and Harm and City Clerk Berg. The caravan was to be joined at Fairbury at noon by Mayor Fleming.

The thirty people on the booster trip were to be guests of the Nebraska City chamber of commerce for dinner at 6 o'clock. Twenty-two towns were to be visited and the mayor in each town given a letter of invitation from the city and the chamber of commerce.

The itinerary: Crete, Wilber, Western, Fairbury, Jansen, Harbine, Ellis, Beatrice, Filley, Crab Orchard, Vesta, Tecumseh, Graf, Johnson, Auburn, Julian, Nebraska City, Dunbar, Syracuse, Unadilla, Palmyra and Cheney.

THOMPSON QUITS NRA BOARD WITH STINGING REBUKE

Sees Trend Toward Fascism and Encouragement of Monopolies.

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—Saying that the development of NRA "day by day reveals more clearly a marked trend toyard fascism in the United States," W. O. Thompson resigned today as a member of the Darrow NRA review board.

In a statement containing his resignation, delivered at the white house, he asserted that "the trend of the national recovery administration has been and continues to be toward the encouragement of monopoly capitalism in the United States."

"The only solution," the former law partner of Clarence Darrow said, "involves a change in class relationships. Only a government by the workers and farmers can plan production, produce goods for use and not for profit, eliminate poverty and raise the standard of living of the entire population."

Thompson said he alone was responsible for the preparation and conclusions of the recent supplemental report of the board which recommended socialization of industry.

Says Attack Unjustified.

It was signed by himself and Darrow and accompanied a general indictment by the entire board of the operation of NRA codes.

"The publication of our report," he added, "was the occasion for an unjustified attack by General Johnson, the labor advisory board, and other agents and supporters of monopoly capital.

"They assailed us bitterly for doing the very thing we had been appointed to do, namely, to hear, investigate and report on the complaints of small business men.

"The announcement of a 'new' price fixing policy is merely a device to calm an aroused public realization of the extent of monopolistic practices.

Thompson said NRA codes already had resulted in "marked increase in prices" for the "broad consuming masses of population."

Placek For Governor Petition Is Received

Emil E. Placek of Wahoo is named in a petition from Wilber, signed by 57 voters, as a candidate for governor in the democratic primary; but F. O. Kucera, who sent it in to the secretary of state, wrote that it is not known whether or not the former will accept. Should Placek indicate that he is willing to run, Kucera said, the filing fee will be paid in Saunders county and a receipt therfor presented.

MASSACHUSETTS WILL OPERATE IDLE FACTORIES

Two Underwear Plants Selected; Other States Doing Likewise.

WILL DISTRIBUTE OUTPUT TO NEEDY

Relief Administration Denies Plan Will Be National Policy.

WASHINGTON, June 13— (AP) — Although encouraging communities to use idle factories for manufacturing goods to be parcelled out to the needy, the federal relief administration denied today that it plans to take over factories as a national policy.

This followed publication of the fact that two idle Massachusetts underwear plants are about to be turned by state action into "emergency work administration" projects to make clothing for the unemployed.

It was said that the project merely carries on what has been done for the last three or four years.

The federal emergency relief administration is not conducting any survey looking to similar national action. "The federal administration" it was said, "gives money to the states for relief work which is mingled with their own money and the states thereafter have jurisdiction.

"If the states want to use the money for such a purpose, that is up to them."

Six Types Of Work.

Shortly before the civil works administration was abandoned and the EWA started Hopkins notified the state administrators that six types of work might be supplied to needy unemployed. These embraced every type of worker and included planning of projects, improvement of public property, demolition and remodelling and repairing of houses, production and distribution of goods needed by the unemployed, public welfare programs and educational activities.

Relief administrations of various states have been using idle unemployed for several years to make clothing, furniture, sheets, mattresses, canning meat and vegetables and in other ways providing for those not working.

Last year the Texas state administration operated 19 packing plants for six weeks slaughtering 21,000 cattle and employing 9,440 people.

GOODRICH, BUSH PLEAD CLEMENCY

Tell Pardon Board That Bank Robbery Attempt Only "Crazy Idea."

Judge Leslie Recommends Freeing C. W. Shoberg, School Treasurer.

The state pardon board Wednesday heard the clemency pleas of two young farmers, who, placing reliance upon an aged revolver, attempted to stage a bank robbery that fizzled when courage left the one that entered the bank and he fled.

Struck by the amateurishness of the crime, Governor Bryan and Attorney General Good sought to elicit from Frank Goodrich, 27 and Clifford Bush, 26, a motive for their attempt to hold up a bank at Wilcox in Kearney county in January, 1932. After lengthy questioning, however, the board was obliged to agree with the applicants and Bush's father, Frank Bush, Naponee, that it was a crazy idea which should have landed the boys "in Ingleside," state insane hospital at Hastings.

Goodrich Admits Leader.

Godrich, whose home also is at Naponee, admitted that he was the leader in the abortive stickup. The revolver which they used was a weapon Bush's father said he bought 35 years ago for 75 cents. In recounting their venture into crime, they told how they drove to Wilcox, twenty-two miles from their home

ELLIOTT DIVORCE STORY CORRECTION

Husband Says Paid $40 to $60 Monthly to Wife Until Lost Job Last July.

Paul L. Elliott, Des Moines, formerly of Lincoln, asks The Star to correct a statement appearing in an Associated Press dispatch from Omaha, to the effect that he had taken good care of his wife "until seven years ago." Mr. Elliott writes that until he lost his job last July, he paid Mrs. Elliott from $40 to $60 per month, besides furnishing clothing and other articles for their son.

The original article was a report of a hearing on Mrs. Elliott's petition for a divorce. The court denied the divorce after Mrs. Elliott said she did not want a divorce and had filed the petition only because her husband had requested it. Mrs. Elliott, who lives at 4707 Hillside avenue, Lincoln, is an invalid.

A check by the Associated Press today revealed that testimony substantiated Elliott's statement that his support continued until last July. His wife lives in Lincoln.

STRONG NOTE FROM AMERICA BEING STUDIED

Roosevelt Willing to Consider Payments "in Kind" by European War Debtors Only on Partial Basis—France May Favor Plan — Installments Due Friday.

WASHINGTON, June 13— (AP)—President Roosevelt is willing to consider payments in goods by European war debtors only on a partial basis.

This was made known at the president's semi-weekly press conference in comment on the United States' note to Great Britain yesterday pertaining to the payments due next Friday.

The suggestion for this manner of payments made in the note was declared not to be a offer for full payment on such a basis.

Reaction abroad was divided, with indications of disfavor in London and possibly favor in Paris.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that the American note was simply a reply to the British default, pointing out a way of payment rather than making an offer.

In other words, the United States said it was willing to discuss the war debts if asked by Great Britain and is willing to consider ways of avoiding the obstacle raised by the British of making full payments in cash.

Britain Not Impressed.

LONDON, June 13—(AP)— Great Britain does not intend to make a war debts payment "in kind," as suggested in an American note yesterday, it was indicated today in authoritative political circles.

Great Britain, it was understood, believes payment in goods would only complicate the situation.

Much surprise was created in London by the reference of Cordell Hull, American secretary of state, to payments in kind, as the United States heretofore has insisted on dollar payments.

Official quarters were silent while the cabinet took a full opportunity to study the situation before the government's attitude is stated to parliament, probably tomorrow.

British Explanation.

British political circles feel there has been some misrepresentation in Washington in regard to the sec-

NEW EVENTS FOR O STREET FETE

More Entertainment and Races Added To Program.

The celebration Friday of the opening of O street and installation of the new ornamental and traffic lights, "will be the most spectacular event ever staged in Lincoln," according to Elmer Magee and Al Forke who are in charge of the program.

"There will be a run by an old steam fire engine, a mad dash through a burning board wall by a motorcycle rider, music by bands and orchestras, aerial acrobatics, and stunts and entertainment almost every minute of the day and night," they declared.

The program will open with the "run" by the old fire engine the horses for which will be furnished by the agricultural college. This event will precede the dash west on O street from Twenty-seventh by the modern fire trucks and police cruisers at 9:30. A demonstration of raising and scaling an aerial ladder at the city hall will follow. This part of the program was arranged by A. C. Harm, commissioner in charge of the fire department.

WOODS DECLARES SUIT UNFOUNDED

To Seek Dismissal Of Petition Asking For Reorganization.

A suit in Kansas City Federal court for reorganization of the Woods Brothers corporation and an affiliate is based on unfounded claims, and immediate dismissal of the action will be sought, George Woods, vice president, declared here Wednesday.

He issued the following statement: "These three petitioners who brought the suit are not creditors, and do not have valid claims against the company. Neither the creditors nor the stockholders have entered any agreement of reorganization. Suitable action will be taken to request the court to dismiss the proceedings."

File Under New Law.

TOPEKA, Kas., June 13 — (AP) — Three creditors of the Woods Brothers corporation and the Woods Brothers Industrial corporation filed proceedings in United States district court here, asking a reorganization in accordance with a recently enacted federal law.

The creditors, F. Arthur Clark, V. H. Parrott and Bessie Calhoun, previously had filed involuntary bankruptcy proceedings against the two concerns.

As Rogers Sees It

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 13—Well the latest papers record the fact that Mr. Tugwell went through O. K. They tried him for being a "menace" and he come clear. I am glad for that. It's a mighty hard thing to tell nowadays whether an idea is revolutionary, or downright conservative. Tugwell proved that he had at one time been a "dirt" farmer. I think that's what got him clemency with the jury. A soldier returning from a popular war don't carry as much sympathy as a "dirt" farmer or for that matter even a prairie land farmer, where there ain't no dirt.

Yours, WILL.

Lincoln Woman Dies After Lonely Illness; Body Unclaimed In Morgue

After suffering in loneliness, Mrs. Cora Schultz lay unclaimed in death at a Lincoln morgue Wednesday.

All day Tuesday the woman, who had entered the hospital where she died early that morning under her maiden name, Cora Russell, lay unidentified. Neighbors of the Belmont district where she once lived and a physician viewed the body but could no tbe positive it was Mrs. Schultz. Her sufferings had changed her features. And it was not until late on Tuesdya evening that a brother-in-law, Carl Schultz, positively had identified the body.

Husband In Jail.

A divorced husband, Ernest and six children, and her parents, Mr and Mrs. John Russell of Shelbyville, Ill., were notified Wednesday morning of her death.

The divorced husband is in the Hall county jail at Grand Island facing charges, investigators were informed, and the three daughters are under the care of a police matron. One son is living with his grandmother in Grand Island, another is on a farm near there and the third is in the Omaha school for the deaf.

After a year of homeless wandering, Mrs. Schultz appeared at the M. L. Kaiser home, southwest of Lincoln, about three weeks ago and pleaded for work. She stayed as a housekeeper, but was reticent about herself. Cora Russell was the name she gave.

Child Born.

A week ago today she was taken sick. On Wednesday Dr. R. H. Sawyer, Lancaster county physician was called. He left medicine. The next morning, alone in the house, she became a mother for the seventh time. Mrs. C. O. Ellis and Mrs. Dan Sexton, neighbor women who live a half mile on either sid, were later notified by Kaiser's young son, and called a doctor.

The woman was taken to a hospital but after a half-hearted fight for life she died. The child is also dead.

A Lincoln Star reporter, inquiring from neighbors and those whom she was reported to have worked for found tha ther name was Mrs. Cora Schultz. Before her last sickness she had told Mrs. Ellis the names of her children. They were Violet, Evelyn, Eloise, Emil, Edwin and Donald. Some time ago the woman was supposed to have been on county relief rolls. A check with the director revleaded that Mrs. Anna Schultz the wife of Ernest Schultz of Grand Island, had set down the above names on her record.

ALOSI ADMITS KILLING THREE WOMEN TWO MEN

Californian Meant Kill Only Two; Others Got in Way.

SUSANVILLE, Cal., June 13 —(AP)—"He broke up my family, ow I have broke up his."

On this confession of motive, hich authorities said was given to hem by Peter Alosi, 45-year-old umber mill worker, District Atorney Grover C Julian prepared oday to charge Alosi with stabbing death three women and two men Sheriff James Leavitt said the urported confession was made by losi yesterday.

Lynch Threat Subsides.

Rumors that an attempt would e made to lynch Alosi quieted after he sheriff and leaders of the Italian uarters pleaded last night for derly conduct.

The confession said Alosi set out kill only Joe Fazio, 45, grocery roprietor, and the latter's grown aughter, Sara, whom he blamed for he recent departure of his wife and he two Alosi children for Boston.

Killed Joe Fazio First.

"I went to the house of Joe Fazio nd killed him," the reputed conession read. "I stabbed him and put m in the bathtub where I washed way the blood, and was cutting him when Mrs. Fazio and John (the ocer's son) came to the house. I could not get away, so I killed them, too."

The statement told how Alosi next went to his own home, nearby, burned his bloodstained clothes, donned others, procured another knife—having left his first knife in the Fazio house—and started in search of the daughter, Sara Fazio. He found her in an automobile with a woman neighbor, Mrs. Lena Amistani.

Wants "Fair" Trial.

The confession said he told the girl her father and mother had been fighting and had been taken to the hospital, and asked the women to take him there. As the car passed a mill pond, he made his attack. The statement said, "I didn't want to kill Lena, only the girl, but I couldn't help it.""

"He broke up my family, now I have broke up his," the statement ended. "All I want is a fair American trial."

Burgen Home Prowler Plays Butler In Reverse

An impromptu "butler" at the George C. Burgen residence, 910 South Thirty-second street, set a new standard in door service Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs Burgen, returning home at 10 o'clock, found him holding the door from the inside. When Mr. Burgen forced it open, the self-styled domestic dashed through the house and fled by way of the back door.

Although the house-breaker had partly ransacked the residence, nothing was taken, Mr. Burgen reported to police. The man gained entry to the house by breaking out a kitchen window.

BAN O STREET TRAFFIC FRIDAY

Parking To Be Prohibited On O Street During Celebration.

To facilitate activities of the Greater Lincoln celebration, parking and traffic will be prohibited on O street Friday from 6 a. m., until 11, and from 6 p. m. until the close of the evening program. During the morning the prohibition will be from Ninth to Twenty-seventh streets. In the evening the ban will be from Twelfth to Fifteenth.

Arrangements for clearing the street were completed Tuesday at a conference between members of the celebration committee, the city council and Police Captain Paul Shively.

Aiding further in the arrangements for the celebration, E. M. Bair, commissioner in charge of streets, directed immediate painting of the center white line in O street. He also directed that the new intersection marking for O street, recommended to the city council by the accident prevention committee, be completed at Thirteenth and O.

White lines on the paving at the west side of each O street intersection form Twenty-seventh street to Fifteenth will be made by park department employes. The lines will be used as the starting points for the 500 Boy Scouts who will take part in the relay race at 11 o'clock, and the finish of which will officially open the thoroughfare to traffic.

Discussion of the new traffic markings found Mr. Bair in opposition to his colleagues, who favor the plan. "It is a needless expense," he declared, "and the police will be unable to enforce the regulation in connection with the white line along the center."

At one point in the discussion Mr Bair asked the mayor to direct the police department to take over marking the streets. Captain Shively then offered to turn over control of traffic lights to Paul W. Doerr, head of the lighting department.

Mrs. Lafferty Rites Will Be Thursday; Lived Here 30 Years

Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy Jane Lafferty, 83, Lincoln resident for thirty years who died at her home at 940 Garfield street early Tuesday morning, will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Castle, Roper and Matthews chapel Rev. Ray E. Hunt officiating. Interment will be made at Yankee Hill.

Mrs. Lafferty was the widow of Lucien Eli Lafferty, who died in December, 1933. The family lived in Johnson county before coming to Lincoln. Mrs. Lafferty had been a member of the Christian church since 1876 and belonged to the First Christian church here. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Josie Stromer of St Johns, Kas., and Mrs. Maude Ellen White of Lincoln; and one son, William of Lincoln. Nine grandchildren also survive.

Lloyd George Ill

CHURT, SURREY, Eng., June 13 —(AP)—David Lloyd George, 71-year-old World war premier of Great Britain, was ill with a chill at his home here today and his physician ordered him confined to his room for a few days.

GETS PRISON TERM.

MARYSVILLE, Kas., June 13—(AP)—A fourth Blue Rapids man, J. E. Littlefield, was on his way today to the Kansas penitentiary to serve a sentence of from one to 10½ years on a charge of an offense against a Blue Rapids girl. He pleaded guilty yesterday. Three others entered similar pleas and were sentenced to prison Monday.

Plans Capital March

Declaring that "if there is a strike, it will take place in Washington," Earle J. Forbeck of McKeesport, Pa., "rank and file" leader of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, revealed plan for a march of steel workers to the capital. He said it would be similar to the bonus army march two years ago.

Pageant Seen By Throng At Chimney Rock

CHIMNEY ROCK, Neb., June 13 —(AP)—As colorful as in previous years, the first performance of the "Gift of God" pageant, this season, was given here last night for an audience of religious pilgrims from many states. Checkers said 404 automobiles, from 26 Nebraska counties and from Wyoming, Colorado, California, Iowa, Washington, and other states, brought the spectators, who sat nearly a mile from the top of Chimney Rock, where the pageant was given with the aid of illumination from colored flare torches.

Bishop Fredrick Leete of Omaha gave the invocation at the opening performance. The pageant will be repeated tonight and Thursday and Friday nights.

The Rev. Louis H. Kaub of Lexington, author of the pageant, read the Bible texts for each of the 16 episodes, starting with the delivering of the message by the prophet Isaiah, to the resurrection scene.

The angel chorus of 60 feminine voices, appearing in the second episode, first in a nearby canyon, and later at the top of a bluff, their white robes gleaming in the white flares, left the crowd a little breathless.

A hundred voice chorus, concealed in a canyon in front of the natural stage, provided the religious music.

Only four pieces of artificial scenery are used in the entire production.

Peter, played by Rev. E. C. Raye of Scottsbluff, and Judas, by Lawrence Nye of Lincoln, were two outstanding portrayals.

MARINES' FAMILIES LEAVE.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, June 13—(AP)—Departure of a United States army transport from this harbor today provided the first concrete evidence to citizens of Haiti that American forces are withdrawing from the island. Aboard the vessel, the S. S. Henderson, were 122 wives and children of American marines and sailors stationed here. The Henderson cleared for Norfolk, Va.

RELEASE MORTGAGES

WAHOO, Neb., June 13—(AP)—George F. Frush, secretary of the Wahoo Mutual Loan and Building association, today said the company released $12,650 worth of mortgages on homes and lots during the past week.

TARIFF BILL BECOMES LAW

White House Foresees "Healthier Trade" From New Policy.

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—The white house foresees "healthier trade" growing from the country's new tariff policy.

That policy, giving President Roosevelt power to negotiate reciprocal trade treaties, was written into law last night with the presidential signature.

The chief executive, now for the first time, can make tariff bargains with other countries—and reduce or raise this country's import rates accordingly—without consent of congress. Changes in rates will be limited to 50 per cent.

Twenty-seven nations, eager to expand their trade with the United States, already have signified their willingness to make treaties. The first pact to be completed, with Colombia, awaits ratification in that country. Another with Cuba is nearly complete.

You Have Inflation Regulated Flying

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

A law will presently become the "law of the land" compelling the nation to buy one billion, four hundred million ounces of silver. It is announced that the president will issue fifteen hundred million dollars of paper money to buy the silver. Conservative old fogyism yells "inflation," although it is not inflation, since the money will have silver back of it.

It will have more back of it than the government's bond on which the nation pays interest. Back of those bonds there is nothing but a paper mill, and the government's name. There are no longer any gold bonds; you can't get the gold.

Back of the silver money issued to buy silver there will at least be silver, and you can always buy something with that, in China, Mexico, India, elsewhere as well as here at home.

Conservative old fogyism may as well realize that we have left the gold basis, and that a government bond is worth exactly as much as a piece of green paper with the government name on it, no more, no less. All you will get for any U. S. government bond is pieces of green paper, when you come to sell it.

Following the loss of one passenger plane in the Catskill mountains, you read about the destruction of another United States passenger plane in the Argentine, five killed, five injured.

It would be unfair to criticize flying methods without knowing every detail of each disaster, but the management of American flying lines, and the United States government as well, should be interested in regulations that France has established for flying over the desert of Sahara.

The French minister of colonies issues regulations stipulating definite roues, with compulsory use of sending and receiving wireless outfits and definite regulations as to their use.

Something should be done to discourage the habit of running airplanes into the mountains on the Pacific and the Atlantic coasts. Higher flying, with reliable altimeters, if such things exist, and landing with radio guiding beams would seem essential.

The Russian communist worm turns with a loud report and prints an advertisement that will startle, bewilder and obfuscate, to borrow a word from Mr. Gene Tunney's vocabulary, one already bewildered "best financial mind."

Not content with advertising Russian gold bonds that pay 7 per cent, redeemable, principal and interest, "upon a fixed quantity of gold," and payable in any kind of money you like, Russia, in an advertisement printed in America, assures those buying Russian bonds that they "are thus protected against loss resulting from possible further reduction in the gold content of the dollar."

The learned senators object to the confirmation of Professor Tugwell as under-secretry of agriculture, on the ground that he is "not a dirt farmer." Leaving out other questions, is it necessary to be a "dirt frmer" to be a good under-secretary of agriculture?

The man who invented the sewing machine couldn't sew. You would not insist on having a seamstress in charge of a great clothing factory. The late American railroad builders, Vanderbilt, Harriman and Hill, never ran a locomotive, or drove spikes into railroad ties. But they could build and run railroads.

Ring Returned to Young Astor by Eileen Gillespie

Young Heir Apologizes To Former Fiancee and Her Parents.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—Young John Jacob Astor has his ring back—the $100,000 32-carat diamond he gave Eileen Gillespie, society girl, his former fiancee.

In exchange for the ring, said Miss Gillespie's parents, the 21-year-old Astor, one of the world's richest young men, delivered a written apology for "his language to their daughter" and retracted "threats concerning her and her family."

With the ring, said the Gillespies, was returned "every other article received by Miss Gillespie from Mr Astor except those of a perishable nature which unfortunately could not be returned."

The Astor scion and Miss Gillespie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lewis Gillespie, were to have been married last winter. The wedding date had been set and arrangements made for a brilliant affair. Then the Gillespies announced the wedding was all off.

But Miss Gillespie retained the ring, an Astor family heirloom, once owned by the Empress Eugenie, and Astor sailed on a trip around the world "to forget."

He returned last month and proceeded to become engaged to another debutante, Ellen Tuck French, who was to have been a bridesmaid at the Gillespie-Astor wedding. He gave her another ring.

Blamed Girl's Parents.

When young Astor returned from his trip around the world he blamed parental interference for the breaking of the engagement and expressed willingness to renew the engagement if this interference were eliminated.

To this statement Mrs Gillespie replied that the broken engagement was a "closed incident."

At the time the engagement was broken off, there were reports that Astor and Miss Gillespie had quarreled at a party.

Astor is the son of the late John Jacob Astor, who lost his life when the Titanic sank in 1912.

Astor's mother is Mrs. Enzo Fiermonte, wife of an Italian boxer. They were married in Doctor's hospital last November as she was recovering from an operation. Fiermonte, who had been engaged as boxing instructor to her two sons by her second husband, William K. Dick, had previously been granted a Reno divorce from his wife who lives in Rome.

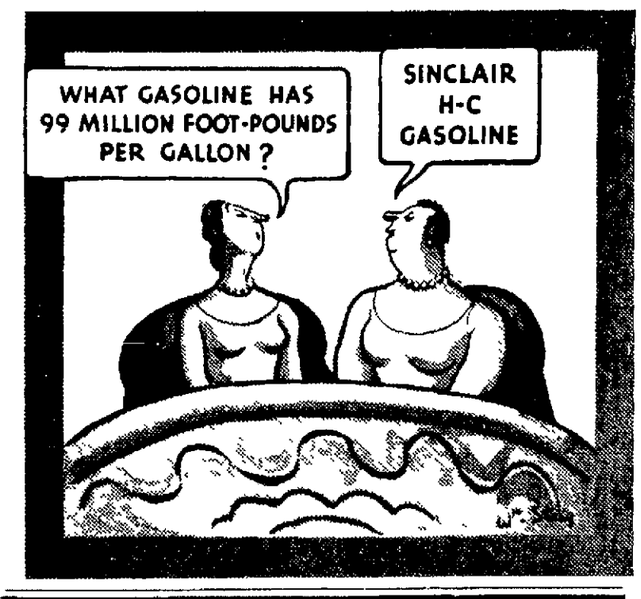

Recently Fiermonte announced he would fight Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight boxing champion, as the result of a bet. The fight is to take place some time in July. Charity will share in the proceeds.

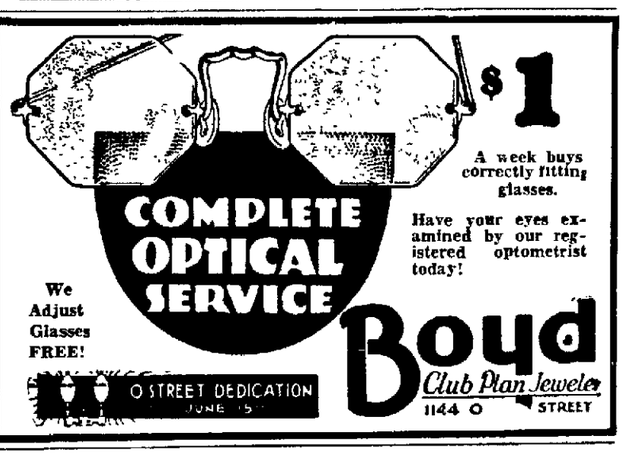

MARRY AT BEATRICE.

BEATRICE, Neb., June 13—Edward Jelinek, 21, Swanton, and Hermine J. Heble, 19, Odell, were married here by County Judge Leslie Noble. A marriage license was also issued to Richard North, 22 Pawnee City, and Ruth Huston, 20, Lincoln.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Sergeant Harper has needed to find a certain .45 calibre revolver to establish his theory that the two men found dead in Pierre Dufresnes' house were murdered by a third person, and did not kill each other. Dufresne and others of his household have placed obstacles in his way. Now he has found the gun hidden in one of the roof gutters.

Chapter 31.
A GUN TALKS.

In his eagerness Harper bent down to reach the revolver, but Lafferty jerked him back by the collar. "You can't get it that way; you'll lose your balance. We need a rake or a pole."

"I'm not going to wait for that. Here, hold me while I crawl after it." Harper stretched down the slope head first, while Lafferty kept a tight grip on his ankles. Lower and lower he crawled until he picked up the gun by the barrel.

Lafferty promptly hauled him back to safety. Without even bothering to shake the snow from his clothing, Harper stood up and broke open the revolver.

"There you are! One empty shell! Jack, this is the real murder gun. Now, if we only knew who hid it up here!"

They hurried downstairs, and Lafferty sprayed the heavy revolver with the insufflator. He tapped the gun with steady strokes of an unopened pocket-knife, to dislodge all loose particles, then bent his tall body over the table as he adjusted the circular lens to the proper height and squinted through the glass at the magnified surfaces.

Sergeant Harper stood beside him, watching closely. But his expression did not reflect the extreme disappointment of Lafferty's as the latter straightened up and muttered, "Not a mark—curse the luck!"

"I didn't expect to find any," Harper commented. "We've got to be content with having recovered the gun and that's something at least. Direct proof of chicanery is what we've needed most in this case."

He picked up the distorted bullet rescued from that dark cavity under the stone steps and held it beside the discharged metal shell. "I'm sure these belong together. If they do, we've got our cornerstone in place. It won't be hard to check it up."

"Sure, it's a hundred to one this is the gun. Only one bullet has been fired and the caliber looks right. The barrel's fouled, too." Lafferty sniffed at the muzzle opening.

"That certainly was an inspiration, looking in the gutter of the roof. Whoever put it there was a fast thinker, no doubt about that."

Mrs. Whitmore's chance words gave me the idea. For no particular reason they called up a vision of a window being raised and the gun dangling outside with the string doubled through the trigger guard.

At the same time I remembered how the eaves projected over the top floor windows. The gun could be swung higher and higher until it landed very neatly in the gutter overhead and out of reach.

"Free one end of the string, draw it down, close the window and there you have it. The wet section, where it rested in the snow, should have told me that, and I suppose it would have eventually, but Mrs. Whitmore unknowingly jogged up the process."

"Well, if Dufresne did it, we've got to credit him with a smooth-working brain. Not many people could think up a good trick like that under sudden pressure. If he hadn't dropped the twine we might still be at sea."

"Just a moment, Jack. We really have no proof that Dufresne hid the gun. We're assuming that the twine fell from the pocket of his robe, but we must remember that everyone in the house, except Mrs. Dufresne and her nurse, was there at the time. The fact that it was found near where he was sitting doesn't prove he dropped it."

"But didn't you yourself see Dufresne searching the room for it, later?"

"Let's not jump to conclusions, Jack. We've got to weigh everything down to the last grain. If we solve this thing at all it will be only because we strike just the right balance."

"Who else could have been smart enough to engineer it?" Lafferty challenged.

"That's a dangerous way to reason it out. We know the gun was in Dufresne's room this morning, for you saw it there. But did Dufresne know it was there? The fact that it was there to be seen as late as this morning's search raises a doubt. If you had such a gun to conceal, wouldn't you pick a better and safer place than an unlocked drawer in your own room for it? Of course, you would.

He picked up the gun.

"And if you had the time, early in the morning, for instance, wouldn't you have taken the gun, cleaned and oiled it, and replaced the empty cartridge? Mind, I'm not trying to clear Dufresne, nor denying that he had the best opportunity for doing it, but there are arguments on both sides of this fence."

"It's too slick a job to have been done by any one except Dufresne," Lafferty insisted.

"No, I don't agree with you there. It's a cunning trick and shows a thorough knowledge of the house and its construction, but I wouldn't say that neither Andrews nor Donaghy could have thought of it."

Lafferty thought it over silently. "And the window from which the gun was swung is in a spare room?"

"It's a guest room, furnished but unoccupied."

"Well, there's one thing you can't deny, Steve. This gun is a man's weapon. You can't imagine any woman toting that thing around with her. The size and weight of it'd be too much of a load."

"Yes, I'll grant you that—if it was brought to this house a man probably brought it. But we don't know that. Perhaps it was here all the time. There's nothing to prevent a desperate or an infuriated woman from firing it. That fiasco of mine with Andrews seems to have ended all hope of getting at the ownership of the gun. They all know about it now and they'll deny ever having seen it."

"You can't expect them to give their boss away at this stage of the game. You know how servants are."

"There are two ways of looking at that. These four walls enclose two separate and distinct stages. There is one for the Dufresnes and the Croydens and their friends of the same class. The other stage is for the servants."

Tomorrow. Lafferty makes a serious accusation.

DRIVE TO REDUCE COST OF HOUSING IS BEING MAPPED

Plan for New Construction and Repair Program in the Making.

BY J. R. BRACKETT.

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 13—A plan is in the making to cut the high cost of home, sweet home in a nationwide campaign.

This drive to reduce building prices is said to have two objectives:

1. To spur President Roosevelt's housing program, designed to increase the building of new homes and the repair of old ones, and thus stimulate the lagging construction industry.

2. To carry out NRA's avowed policy of keeping prices from mounting to excess.

The plans are said to be based on expectation that the housing bill would be passed substantially as recommended by presidential advisers.

A generalization about reductions sought is considered difficult, but they probably would range between 10 and 15 per cent.

Discussions have been held with labor leaders to find some method of reducing labor costs.

The house restored to the housing bill yesterday a provision permitting a government agency to insure mortgages on slum clearance and low cost housing. Representative O'Connor, democrat, New York, said:

"It is more important to clear up a slum than it is to put a front porch on an ordinary house and I don't think New York should be discriminated against."

Attention centered today on whether aid to home owners should be extended through new, privavte mortgage associations that would be tax free or the Home Owners Loan corporation and building and loan agencies.

The president's advisers ere for the new mortgage associations; a majority of the banking committee for the HOLC. The bill would place a partial government guarantee on loans for construction and repair.

Minton Selected For Senate Race By Indiana Demos

INDIANAPOLIS, June 13—(AP)—A 43-year-old lawyer and World war veteran, backed by Gov. Paul V. McNutt, is the choice of Indiana democrats for United States senator.

In state convention yesterday, after four ballots were taken, Sherman Minton of New Albany, public counsellor with the Indiana public service commission, was named to oppose the republican incumbent, Arthur R. Robinson, in the November election.

Runner-up was R. Earl Peters of Fort Wayne, who as state chairman swung Indiana's votes in the last national democratic convention to the Roosevelt bandwagon. Peters led by 22 votes on the first ballot, then fell to second position.

Also defeated was Mayor Reginald Sullivan of Indianapolis, choice of Senator Frederick Van Nuys.

Floyd Seybolt Passenger On Ill-Fated Air Liner Few Days Before Crash

Floyd Seybolt traveled on the ill-fated air liner several days before it crashed in flames in the Catskill mountains Saturday, he revealed Tuesday upon his return from a six week's trip in the east.

Another coincidence of the plane crash was that it wrecked within 25 miles of Mr. Seybolt's uncle's mountain lake, which Mr. Seybolt also visited.

He visited in Battle Creek, Mich., Detroit and New York on the trip, which covered more than 3,000 miles.

MARRIED IN IOWA.

(Special to The Star).

AURORA, Neb., June 13—Announcement has been made of the marriage of Herbert Carlson, son of Mrs. C. A. Carlson, and Miss Adelaide Refshauge, only child of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Refshauge, both of Aurora, which occurred on Saturday at Marshalltown, Ia. Both parties are graduates of the Aurora high school. Mr. Carlson is a graduate of Doane college and is vice president and general manager of the Republican-Register of Aurora. Miss Refshauge has attended Ames college at Ames, Ia. The couple will reside in Aurora.

GRAVES WINS IN ALABAMA VOTE

Former Governor Returned to Chief Executive's Chair by Demos.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 13—(AP)—Alabama democrats have returned former Gov. Bibb Graves to the chief executive's chair—the first man to be voted a second term since the constitution of 1901 was adopted.

Returns from 1,836 out of 2,185 boxes in yesterday's run off primary gave Graves 131,213 votes to 109,754 for Maj. Frank M. Dixon of Birmingham.

It was Graves' third race for the highest office in the gift of Alabama democrats, since nomination is equivalent to election. In 1922 Graves made an unsuccessful campaign. In 1926 he was elected. His term expired in January, 1931.

Judge James E. Horton in the fiighth judicial district, who nearly a year ago set aside a death verdict in the "Scottsboro case" on grounds of insufficient evidence, was defeated by A. A. Griffith of Cullman.

Snow, Wind, Quakes Strike Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, June 13—(AP)—With the official first day of winter only one week away, earthquakes, snow, rain and winds swept Argentina today.

A violent snow storm was howling over the south territories with a record cold, while fog and rainfalls predominated elsewhere. At Mendoza slight earthquakes were felt.

A hail storm hit Rosario, and the worst snow storm in two years was raging in the Andes.

Buenos Aires, however, was having warmer weather than usual with a drizzle of rain falling.

Mrs. Senner, Lincoln Resident Forty Years, Dies at Albuquerque

Word of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Senner, 63, who died Tuesday in an Albuquerque N. M., hospital was received here by relatives. She had been visiting friends there and was taken ill three weeks ago.

Mrs. Senner had lived in Lincoln for more than 40 years. She came to the United States from Germany with her parents when she was 18 years old. Sometime in the '90s they moved to Lincoln. She was Elizabeth Lehl before her marriage.

She became a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist Lincoln chapter No. 148, O. E. S. in 1928 and was a member of and the Royal Neighbors of America. The body will arrive in Lincoln Thursday morning and services probably will be held at 3 o'clock that afternoon.

Surviving are her husband, P. H. Senner; two sons, John and Joe, both of Lincoln; and two daughters, Mrs. Sarah Whitford of Fremont and Mrs. A. Carlander of Kansas City, Mo.

Kiwanis To Entertain 4-H Clubs At Picnic

The Kiwanis club will be host Friday to members of 4-H clubs of Lancaster county and their families at the agricultural college. The affair is also to be a picnic for the members of Kiwanis and their families, taking the place of the regular noon luncheon at the chamber of commerce.

There will be games from 3 to 5 p. m., a picnic supper at 5:30, and entertainment beginning at 7 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded to winners of the contests.

A. R. Folsom is general chairman, and will be assisted by C. C. Wiggins, Frank C. Grant, Jeff Martin, H. F. McCulla and Archie Furr.

EVENING CHORUS TO BE ORGANIZED

George Howerton Will Direct Group Being Formed by University School of Music.

An evening chorus group, meeting from 7:15 o'clock until 9 o'clock on Monday and Wednesday evenings, is being organized by the University of Nebraska school of music, in connection with the annual four-weeks all-state high school orchestra and chorus course.

George R. Howerton of Hiram college, Hiram, Ohio, who is the guest conductor of the choral course, will direct the chorus group.

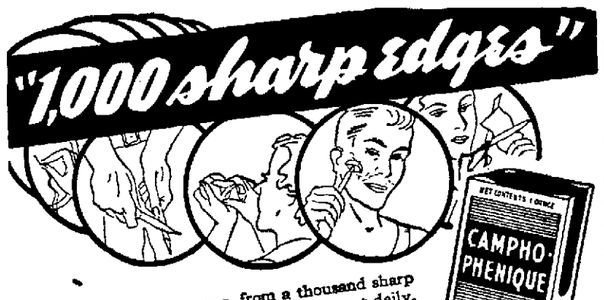

The singers of the city are invited to attend. First meeting of the group will be held at 7:15 o'clock tonight in Grant Memorial hall on the campus.

MRS. M'GERR TO SPEAK.

Mrs. P. T. McGerr of Lincoln will speak at the band concert at Firth Wednesday night. Mrs. McGerr is candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in the first district. She taught school at Firth 37 years ago.

A considerable part of the amount not accounted for, was used for purposes for which meters have not been installed. Coal consumption for the month was 1,284 tons. Total pumpage at Ashland in May was 327,000,000 gallons. The street lights were operated 270½ hours.

About People

John Miles Moore, 65, a former Lincoln resident for 35 years, died recently at a Sheridan, Wyo., hospital after an appendicitis operation, according to word received here. Mr. Moore moved to Sheridan about five years ago. Burial was in Hope cemetery at Sheridan. J. E. Moore, 6518 Francis street, is a brother.

Neil Olson, former Lincoln police captain now in charge of protecting the Burlington Zephyr while on exhibition, left Lincoln Wednesday for Denver to make arrangements for protecting the train while it is on exhibition there. He will confer with D. & R. G. and C. & S. officials and will leave Denver Thursday for San Francisco to make similar arrangements there with the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific roads. The Zephyr will leave Denver, June 16, following opening of the Moffatt tunnel for San Francisco, Mr. Olson said.

OMAHA BRIDGE BONDS UPHELD

Supreme Court Says Those For New Structure Are Valid

The Nebraska Supreme court this afternoon denied two Omaha taxpayers an injunction against issuance of $1,650,000 in bonds for the South Omaha bridge.

In an opinion by Judge Eberly, the court held that the building of the bridge is within the statutory powers of the city, that it does not involve illegal expenditure of public funds, that it will not increase the burden of municipal taxation, and that the burden of the revenue bonds will not become a general obligation of the city.

The suit was filed by Charles B. Kirby and Elizabeth J. Lindsey against the Omaha Bridge commission, the city of Omaha and the city council. They failed to get an injunction in District court, and this decision is upheld by the Supreme court.

SEND REVISED CORN-HOG PACTS

line with their quotas and Fillmore county has reported its contracts now are within its quota.

In Lancaster County.

Re-examination of Lancaster county's 2,166 corn-hog contracts following an order by the state board of review that the number of hogs listed for benefit payment must be reduced 13.6 per cent in this county is completed, Frank Walker, county corn-hog chairman, said Wednesday noon. The contracts are being held by the county committee temporarily in the hope that some modification of regulations may be forthcoming from Washington.

Rather than effect a blanket 13.6 per cent reduction the county committee examined each individual contract for overstatement. In a number of cases they found farmers, in recording hogs marketed during 1932 and 1933, included some 1931 hogs in their 1932 litter. "This was due to a misunderstanding of provisions of the contract in nearly every case," Walker explained.

The revised quota cut the number of hogs on which farmers will receive benefit payments from 86,878 to 75,091, making an approximate 11,887 hogs which have been shaved from individual contracts. A general reduction of 5.3 per cent was ordered on corn acreages listed in the contracts. Thus the 159,463 contracted corn acres were reduced by 8,462 to 151,001 to conform with the county quota.

Within a short time the contracts will be forwarded to the state board of review and thence to Washington for final examination and payment of benefit checks.

ATTORNEYS FOR CONKLIN LASH BRYAN AND GOOD

the flower of intellect in this state, polished in schools in Nebraska, the east and at Oxford, who comes up here and makes faces at a witness.

"Then there is the spectacle of these men appointed by Bryan chasing out in the woods to get away from subpoenas. I tell you you've seen a rabbit turned into a lion. I refer to Mr. Hare, who was out in hiding, until the word came through that the judge wouldn't make him talk. Then he comes in and turns into a lion."

Hits Quizzing Miss Gosnell.

"You've seen the practical illustration of the workings of politicians. County Attorney Towle unnecessarily dragged from Miss Gosnell details of her resigning from an office because she was temporarily unable to present some funds. She said she resigned on the advice of the county attorney in her county and 48 hours later the county attorney's uncle was appointed to her place. I wonder whose uncle would have been appointed had Harry Conklin been forced out of office. Attorney General Good's? Max Towle's—"

Towle interrupted to say, "I have no uncle."

Beghtol continued: "County Attorney Towle has no uncle. But I'll tell you who has a lot of uncles. That's Charley Bryan."

Tragedy entered the case in that Conklin has been ruined, Beghtol claimed. He declared stories of the charges against the land commissioner had been carried in all the newspapers in the middle west for the past three months. "It is a tragedy that Deputy Land Commissioner Wehn was charged in this case," Beghtol continued. "It is a tragedy that Lane should be the target when all that has been shown is that he tried to collect a campaign fund for his boss."

Cites Early Trial Date.

The defense attorney referred to the fact that trial of the case started in little more than two months after the prosecution was first started. "If we had been afraid of the trial, do you think we would have rushed in?" h easkéd. "Don't you think I know how to postpone a trial?"

Almost immediately, he went back to the subject of Bryan. "Bryan has told us year after year that he was saving us money," the attorney declared. "We keep getting poorer and poorer. He has a worn out issue there. He decides then to take up something new, to clean up the capitol.

"I can tell you what Bryan will say, whatever way this case goes. "If Conklin is acquitted, the governor will say it's too bad the attorney general lost his case. If Conklin is convicted, he'll say: 'See what I did. Now send me to Washington, and I'll clean it out.'"

Denies Motive For Graft.

Beghtol argued Conklin would have no reason to engage in petty graft and payroll padding when he had a salary of $5,000 a year. He pointed to the defendant's reputation for nearly a quarter of a century as a drug salesman, and reminded that the president of the drug company had testified Conklin handled over a million dollars in accounts without any trouble.

The attack moved now to Howard Holtzendorff and Lester Danielson, claimed by Beghtol to have been shown "to be at the bottom of this matter." The attorney declared: "Anyone knows that the greatest liars are children. These boys are not old enough to know what is true. They're dazzled, hypnotized by seeing their names in the paper and by the glory of Good and Bryan. They are law students, but it will be a disgrace to this state if they are ever admitted to practice."

Forbade Lane To Testify.

Answering Wright's question why Lane had not testified, Beghtol declared he represented Lane and had forbidden him to take part in this case. "He'll try his own case when the time comes," the attorney stated.

Foe spared Bryan little more than his partner. "In all the years this courtroom has stood here, never has there been a criminal trial where in the first incipience the trial began in the office of the governor of this state," he declared in opening his argument.

Foe made a vigorous attack on Good for taking the stand as a rebuttal witness for the state. "He asked to withdraw at that time as an attorney," Foe declared. "The decent thing for him to have done would be to withdraw at the outset of the case when the statements to the jury of my partner, Mr. Beghtol, disclosed to Mr. Good facts that made him know he would be a witness."

Says Witnesses Not All Called.

It was the state's sole duty, Foe argued, to present all available witnesses. He criticized the state for calling only part of the janitors. "They called 14 of the janitors, and we called 16 others to get the full story," Foe claimed.

Reading part of the information against Conklin to the jury, Foe declared the state had failed to call two of the three men the information claimed had been deceived by payroll vouchers prepared in Conklin's office. "They didn't call Secretary of State Swanson or Auditor Price because they didn't want us to examine them," Foe claimed. "Treasurer Hall, the only one of the trio called, testified the vouchers never came into his office."

Foe pointed to testimony that the janitorial payrolls at the capitol are running $400 a month less under Conklin than in the previous administration. "The only conclusion is that this talk about cheating the state is all hooey," the attorney maintained. "The greatest loss to the state of Nebraska has been the employment of these janitors at Sixth and South streets by the state highway department. The jobs were made for them, and taken away from CWA workers. The men have been sitting in the courtroom for two weeks. Why don't they go back to work. Because it's just another political job."

Outlines Theory.

Foe presented in detail what he said was "undoubtedly what happened" to start the Conklin prosecution.

"First of all," he began, "Conklin is not the politician in the sense Bryan is a politician. I haven't anything but criticism for the procedure of political appointments, but it has been followed from time immemorial.

"There are two classes of janitors, the regular janitors and the political appointees. None of the regular janitors have been involved in this. The political appointees started a campaign fund for Conklin. Some of them did it willingly, they coerced the others.

"Some of the janitors weren't doing their work satisfactorily. Complaints went to Conklin and he reprimanded those men. There was un undercurrent of dissatisfaction. Some of the men said they wouldn't contribute longer to a campaign fund if Conklin was going to criticize them. They started calling up political bosses in Omaha.

Stories Heard By Reporters.

"Here's where the newspapers have an important bearing. You can't have dissatisfaction and make calls to political bosses without the reporters hearing about it. Stories began to appear about a campaign fund.

"Now, Bryan has a long political nose. He knew it wouldn't help his campaign for senator to have a scandal at the state house, especially since the governor has been collecting campaign funds for years. He must step to the front and clean up, not at home, but in somebody else's department.

"He called Good in and they thought they could make Conklin resign. Word got out that Conklin might resign even before Conklin was approached. The reporters came around, and when they've got word of something you've got to tell them something. There came the suggestion of prosecution, and now Governor Bryan and Attorney General Good have had to carry it through.

"I tell you this prosecution was never started as a prosecution, but to force Conklin out of office. It got away from them, that's all." Foe closed with an appeal to the jury "not to make yourselves a party to washing out political linen."

Stressing that the trial is not a political fight or a prosecution for raising a campaign fund, Assistant Attorney General William Wright made the first of the closing arguments in State Land Commissioner Harry P. Conklin's trial Tuesday afternoon.

"The defense has tried to make it a political fight by inserting Governor Bryan's name as much as possible," Wright declared. "This is not a dog fight but a prosecution for conspiracy to defraud the state. The defense thinks some of you may not like Bryan, and may vote for acquittal on that ground. This is not Bryan's case, and it won't make a particle of difference to him how the case goes."

Charge Is Payroll Padding.

Wright went on to say Conklin is not being prosecuted for collecting a campaign fund. "Campaign funds can be collected properly, but this is solely a prosecution for padding the payrolls. We submit to you there was a conspiracy almost as soon as Conklin came in office to do that thing."

Claim was made that the defense had built its case "by throwing to the wolves" former Head Capitol Janitor George Lane, charged with being in the alleged conspiracy with Conklin. "Where is Lane?" Wright asked. "I've looked for him for 2½ weeks and haven't seen him."

Reviewing testimony of both prosecution and defense witnesses, the assistant attorney general declared the defense had spent much of its time in trying to break down testimony of Lester Danielson and Howard Holtzendorff. "That's because their testimony involves Conklin," Wright declared. "As long as the state's witnesses talked about Lane, the defense has said, 'Oh, that's all right,' but when Conklin was brought in it was a different matter."

WOODS DECLARES SUIT UNFOUNDED

other concerns, is organized as a Delaware corporation and has its principal office at Lincoln, Neb.

Claim Unable Meet Debts.

In their bankruptcy petition, the creditors claim the concerns were insolvent. The companies replied by asking dismissal of the petition on the ground the court had no jurisdiction. In their petition today, the creditors adopted allegations in the original petition and claimed liabilities of the debtor concerns exceeded $10,000,000 and that they were unable to meet their debts.

W. G. West, clerk of the court, said this was the first case to be filed here asking a reorganization of a corporation under the federal law approved June 7, which extends to corporations a plan for reorganization without bankruptcy proceedings similar to that now followed in reorganization of railroads.

Plan Agreed On.

Robert Stone, Topeka attorney, said under the new law, a plan of reorganization previously agreed upon by two-thirds of each class of creditors and by a majority of stockholders, is sought.

Stone said the new law was more favorable to corporations because it avoided throwing them into bankruptcy.

The three creditors alleged liabilities of the companies totaled more than $10,000,000 and included bonds now in default and more than $1,300,000 due to various banks. They alleged the corporations were unable to meet interest on more than $1,250,000 of bonds.

List Of Candidates Swells Fast As July 5 Filing Deadline Nears

Three weeks more will ring down the curtain on candidate filings for the state primaries to be held August 14. In that time it is expected the already large list will be swelled by many new entries. The limit for getting in is July 5.

No nomination papers sent in by mail which are received at the secretary of state's office after the fifth can be accepted for filing, as was done in former years. The Nebraska Supreme court held, in deciding the "Grocer Norris" case, that every filing must be completed and in the proper official's hands on the last date allowed by law, and that the act of mailing in an application from some distant point is not sufficient unless it reaches the officer and is duly recorded within the period specified.

Six Demos For Governor.

Six democratic candidates for governor and three for that office on the republican ticket have complied with the legal requirements up to this time to get their names printed on the primary ballots of their respective parties. Numerous petitions are on file also for Roy Cochran, state engineer, but he has not signified his acceptance in writing. Wednesday morning another petition came in from Wilber, proposing E. E. Placek of Wahoo for governor, but without his acceptance or a receipt for payment of the filing fee in his home county. If both these men should decide to run, the number of democratic candidates would be increased to 8.

For United States senator, there are two democratic candidates formally entered now — Governor Bryan and Willis E. Reed of Madison—and Congressman E. R. Burke will complete his filing within a few days. On the g. o. p. side, Robert Smith is the only one regularly filed thus far, but Robert G. Simmons and Kenneth S. Wherry have announced themselves as candidates, and will soon file.

7 Demos For Congress.

There are 7 democratic bidders for congress in the first district, with two more in whose behalf petitions are on file, who may run. The republican list includes 5 sure and 1 possible candidate.

The fifth congressional district is also well supplied, having 5 candidates in each primary, with one more democrat who has announced himself in the race but has not yet completed his filing. In the third there are 6 democrats and 1 republican, and in the second, 2 of each.

Some state offices are the lure for many candidates, while one or two have almost gone begging for somebody to fill them. The place that has brought out the longest string of seekers is land commissioner. Six democrats and 4 republicans are after it.

For railway commissioner, 4 democrats and 2 republicans have filed, and petitions have been presented for 1 more democrat and 2 republicans.

Only one candidate in each primary is so far registered for attorney general, but there are petitions pending for one more of each political complexion. The number of filings for other state offices is as follows:

Lieutenant governor—Democrats, 2; republicans, 2.

Secretary of state—Democrats, 1; republicans 2; one more republican, George C. Snow of Chadron, getting ready to file.

Auditor—Democrats, 1; republicans, 2.

Treasurer—Democrats, none; republicans, 2.

REFORMATORY TRUSTY FLEES

Louis Loseke Escapes While Working At Orthopedic.

Walking away from trusty work at the Orthopedic hospital, Eleventh and South streets, Louis Loseke, 23, reformatory inmate, escaped shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. No trace of the man had been found early Wednesday afternoon.

Police throughout this section of the state were notified of the escape and asked by Superintendent Gus Miller to join in the manhunt.

Loseke was working with a party of five trusties doing clean-up duties about the hospital. Loseke had been assigned to wash windows.

He is last known to have been seen by fellow workmen shortly after 4 o'clock, but his absence was not noticed until about 5:15 o'clock when the men were called for dinner and he did not appear. A search in the nearby vicinity failed to disclose his presence.

Loseke has a wife and two children at Monroe, Neb. His father and mother reside at Clearwater, Neb.

The escaped man had been serving in the reformatory since Feb. 17, 1934, when he was imprisoned for one year for parole violation. He was originally convicted of stealing a calf in Boone county but was given a bench parole. When he violated this parole, he drew the reformatory sentence.

PRICE TO SEEK CONGRESS SEAT

the national economy act to review veterans' claims. He is librarian of the University of Nebraska college of law.

Price is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the United Spanish War Veterans.

In his platform statement, he says in part:

"The great depression through which we have been passing, is the result of too little government of the right kind and too much government of the wrong kind, under the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations. Class legislation was the order of the day.

"Under the last three national republican administrations a few powerful and well-organized groups applied irresistible pressure to our executive and legislative departments. Agriculture was not given the same kind of help that was so unstintingly granted to other industries.

"The only kind of legislation that can afford the farmers substantial relief, is that which will restore his purchasing power, stabilize the market price of his farm products on higher levels so as to enable him to balance his budget and sell his commodities at a price that will not only return the cost of production, but will also yield a fair profit over production costs; legislation that will narrow the spread between what the farmer gets for his product and what he pays for his supplies.

"War, as an institution cannot be glorified and is not glorified except by the munition maker and others who profit from war but there is an obligation on the part of the nation to adequately care for those, who, by reason of their service, have become disabled and, I believe there is a further obligation upon the national government to care for those soldiers who, by reasons of illness and adverse circumstances are no longer able to carry on. The support of this agency of the government comes not from the agricultural sections, but from the great fortunes. There should be a uniform pension system guaranteeing to every soldier who served this country during war adequate compensation for disabilities that are incident to that service and provisions for hospitalization of our veterans, and the very best of domiciliary care for those who are in need of such care. x x x

"It is the duty of our national government to provide laws that will insure an equal opportunity and to safeguard in their vocations the laborers and the farmers as well as the favored interests, to the end that they may have the opportunity of earning a proper living and to insure to their children the opportunities of an education that was the purpose of establishing our form of government."

GOODRICH, BUSH PLEAD CLEMENCY

community, and Bush parked his new automobile at the edge of town a quarter of a mile from the bank.

Goodrich walked into the bank, and covered the banker, but fled when he thought the banker stepped on an alarm button. Goodrich walked to the car and they drove through town in their flight back to Naponee. They were arrested the next day. Goodrich was sentenced to 12 years in the reformatory and Bush to 11 on their guilty pleas.

In the absence of Secretary of State Swanson, his deputy Irl D. Tolen, sat with the board.

Shoberg Release Favored.

District Judge Charles Leslie strongly favors release of Clarence W. Shoberg, 51, serving 1-3 years for embezzling funds of a Burt county school district of which he was treasurer. Shoberg, who was sentenced in January, 1933, was received at the prison Tuesday, having been serving his sentence in the Burt county jail.

The former Omaha mechanic, upon whom the treasurer's job "was pushed" explained to the board that he first loaned a friend $300 out of the school funds, and later used some for his own purposes. He repaid the money he took for himself, but his friend failed to repay the loan. Shoberg sold a farm which his wife inherited in an effort to repay the school funds.

While expressing neutrality toward the plea of "Harold "Toots" Peters, 27, Lincoln man serving 1-3 years in the reformatory for robbing a tobacco firm here two years ago, District Judge Fred Shepherd admonished the board not to free him "because of the color of his hair." In a letter to the board, the judge said he feels clemency should be shown only when an applicant has demonstrated reformation and not because he is young or because of "the color of his hair." Peters' hair is black.

"I've learned my lesson out here. I'm going straight," Peters declared. His aunt, Mrs. George Hedges, Kansas City, asks to take her nephew there on parole to her.

Claim Guns Harmless.

The problems of two other young men were thrust upon the board when Alvin Breazeale, 25, and Carroll Florey, 24, asked for paroles from their 10-year prison terms for holding up a grocery store at Powell in Jefferson county in 1931. Both are farm youths living but a few miles from Powell. Old weapons figured in this case also, Breazeale testifying that the weapon he used was minus a trigger and Florey declaring that the firing pin on his revolver was short.

Owen McGrady, proprietor of the store and victim of the holdup, interceded for the youths. He said they got only $3.50 and some cigarets, and said he believes they have learned their lesson thoroughly.

Parents Ask Clemency.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Breazeale, Alvin's parents, and his brother, Melvin, appeared in his behalf. Florey's sister, Mrs. William Rabe and her husband, Lexington farmers, asked to have him paroled to them. L. A. Florey, Shenandoah, Ia., Florey's father, approved the idea.

Fred Shrader, 46, Lincoln man serving 3-7 years in the penitentiary on a forgery charge, blamed his downfall on an affair with a woman over a two-year period. A former Burlington employe, he was laid off in August, 1933, and when his funds ran out, he resorted to forgery, he said.

"I supposed I'd get picked up sometime," Shrader acknowledged in reply to Governor Bryan. Shrader said his wife divorced him after his sentence and he wants to get to work to help support their two minor children. Two brothers-in-law, W. A. Reid, Flatts, Neb., and W. H. Wustrack, Surprise, supported Shrader's plea. Reid offers him employment on a farm.

Officials Help Sharpe.

Most of the Blaine county officials, including the clerk, sheriff, several commissioners, the county judge and District court clerk favor the release of Paul Sharpe, 41, Antone Fisher, 33, and Jim McCarty, 37, serving 3 years each for hog and cattle theft.

NEW EVENTS FOR O STREET FETE

11 o'clock, followed by the sending up of areal bombs from the top of business buildings, announcing the opening of the thoroughfare. At the same time airplanes will drop imitation bombs from the sky.

While this part of the program is under way, the Burlington band will play a concert, to be repeated again in the evening while the fun fest is on, beginning at 8 o'clock.

A street dance will be held and civic clubs will stage a carnival on the sidewalks and on the pavement. The dancing may be inaugurated by a grand march led by Gov. C. W. Bryan.

Arrangements for the civic club participation in the activities is in charge of Mr. Forke, president of the Inter-Civic club council.

All Lincoln civic clubs, Charles A. Fraley post No. 1450, Veterans of Foreign Wars are aiding in making the night feature of the celebration a gala event, Mr. Forke said.

Girls Band To Play.

The opening event of the clubs will be a band concert at 7 p. m. by Dietz Girls' civic band, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets on O. The Rotary club will present a varied entertainment including a German band between Tenth and Eleventh street. The group will be a contingent from the DeMolay band.

The Kiwanis club will be between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets with the Harmony Twins, Lucille Butz, piano; Mark Dulin, saxaphone, Lulu Jo Hyland, accordian, and Dona Ray Cooper, songs and dancing.

The Co-operative club will sponsor Mac King's L-N Service club entertainment between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets. On the north side of O between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, the Business & Professional Woman's club will stage a varied entertainment including Jimmy Miller and Pat Ash in "Cracked Ice," and Pat Ash and his Nine Cinders.

The Optimist club and Charles A. Fraley post are co-operating in staging the motorcycle rider's dash through a burning board wall. The rider will be Eugene Barnett. Tentative plans provide for the wall being in the vicinity of Fourteenth and O streets. In addition each group will present a separate program, the Optimists showing roller-skatin and other stunts. The veterans will entertain with a junior drill team of boys and girls under 15 years old under the direction of J. L. Stroud.

Pete Delkey, 25, Facing Third Prison Sentence

Fate is still catching up with Pete Delkey.

Delkey, sentenced from Red Willow county to the men's reformatory here on an auto theft charge, began on November 25, 1931, to serve an indeterminate sentence fo from 1 to 2 years. On August 10, 1932 he escaped and left Nebraska.

On Oct. 15, 1932, Delkey was arrested at Medford, Ore., and there followed his conviction for violation of the federal Dyer act (transporting a stolen automobile across the state lines) carrying with it a two-year sentence in the federal penitentiary, McNeil island near Seattle. His sentence up, Delkey was returned to Nebraska on June 9. Now he will not only be forced to serve the remainder of a 2-year reformatory sentence, but a complaint was filed against him Wednesday morning charging him with escaping custody. This charge carries a penitentiary sentence. Delkey is now 25 years old.

tion of the recent British note referring to the debts European countries owe England.

The British note merely said, it was pointed out, that if Great Britain resumed payment to the United States she would be forced to call upon her debtors to pay her and this in turn would create another world economic crisis. She did not mean, it was held, that the two categories of debts amount to one transaction.

Strong American Note.

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—A pay-in-goods tip from the United States to Europe opened new possibilties today in the $12,000,000,000 war debt impasse.

Confronted with almost unanimous refusal to hand over any money, the United States—in a note to Great Britain—suggested that partial payments in kind might be acceptable.

Such commodities as tin, rubber, jute and silver immediately came to the minds of observers as they studied the note. The world's greatest tin mines are largely controlled by the British. The British empire is the world's largest producer of rubber, of which the United States is the leading consumer.

Butte, Sioux, Sheridan and Dawes counties in a primary drouth area yet this week so the buying program may get under way. W. W. Derrick, extension animal husbandryman at the college of agriculture, is conferring with agricultural agents of the four counties at Chadron today on the problem. Prof. Gramlich and L. A. White, state rural rehabilitation director, left Lincoln at noon for an inspection trip through Johnson and Saline counties, where conditions are reported unfavorable in some sections.

County commissioners in Saline county also sent a request to Gramlich Wednesday to have that county included in the primary area. Conditions in the western side of the county there are reported very unfavorable, they said. Gramlich was to confer with the commissioners and livestock producers Wednesday afternoon.

In Sioux county, cattlemen evidently are in favor of putting the government program into operation immediately, for J. C. Swinbank, agricultural agent at Harrison, wired Gramlich today that scattered rains there have offered temporary relief, but a heavy emergency movement is not avoidable. Some cattle are reported showing heavy shrinkage and the program is needed before widespread livestock suffering prevails, he said.

Begin Moving Forage Seed.

A. E. Anderson, state and federal agricultural statistician, pronounced the drouth broken for the present in northeastern Nebraska, but said that with few exceptions central Nebraska and the three southern tiers of counties still are without material relief.

L. A. White, rural rehabilitation director, said the point is nearing when some counties will have to be designated as primary drouth districts and federal government purchasing of cattle began. Meanwhile, he said he has begun to move forage seed into the secondary drouth counties where the need is greatest for quick feed and where rains have been received so the seed will grow.

He said betkeen 12 and 15 carloads of forage seed of his 1,000,000 pound stock has been shipped to all drouth sections of the state this week and purchases of feed for emergency needs are continuing in local communities.

Farmers in the 21 eastern Nebraska counties assigned for cash drouth work relief, White said, now are being assigned to work and probably will be on jobs by the first of next week.

D. F. Felton, state agricultural director, returned from an inspection trip over the state and said conditions in the panhandle except for scattered spots are not as favorable as early because of hot, dry winds recently. He predicted most of the wheat in the panhandle would make only about five bushels to the acre.

Anderson said reports continue to indicate a large percentage of small grain crops in the state are being pastured and that livestock is moving out, due to shortage of pasture and feed. He said also that reports indicate about 19 per cent of the corn either did not germinate or sprouted and died due to the drouth.

"Showers varying from light to heavy occurring for nearly a week in northeastern Nebraska," he said, "have given substantial relief to that section. Roughly, the area covered includes Merrick, Polk, part of Butler, Dodge and Burt and all counties north to the Dakota line.

PROTEST GROUP SUGGESTS ROPE FOR HUEY LONG

voice are not heeded?" the mayor asked. "Hold up your hands."

"We'll bring our pistols, too," shouted several as hands appeared above heads.

Grand jury investigation of official maladministration, "depoliticalization" of state educational institutions and elimination of the "dictatorship" were included with the economy "demands" in the resolutions. Their text, as well as the speeches, expressed the possibility of a "resort to force in assertion of constitutional rights when peaceful means fail."

Every city of importance in Louisiana and many towns and villages were represented at the meeting.

Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans, ardent foe of Senator Long, declared: "I have dedicated my life to the extermination of Huey Long and all his kind from politics. I am not here to talk, but to listen to what you want me to do."

The statewide meeting climaxed a series of smaller gatherings held after the state tax reform commission proposed a "relief" program based on 11 proposals for new levies. The program was endorsed by Senator Long and Gov. O. K. Allen.

Former Gov. J. Y. Sanders told the meeting it was "simply a new tax scheme to raise more money to feed their political machine."

Against the program the protestants placed 11 demands. They are:

Governmental economy.

Increase state school support from existing revenue.

Property tax relief without additional taxation.

Rigid adherence to self-government principles.

Reduction of automobile licenses.

School fund segregation.

Criminal prosecution of state officials who violate fund or salary disposition.

"De-politicalization" of state educational institutions.

State government administered by officials "not controlled by dictatorship."

Grand jury investigation of official maladministration.

"Constitutional, honest and economical government."

Lester Dunn Files

Lester Dunn, 2110 Bradfield drive, filed late Tuesday as a candidate for the republican nomination for state representative in the Thirty-sixth district. Mr. Dunn is an attorney and was legal advisor for the compensation commissioner under Governor McKelvie's administration. He is an ex-service man and graduated in 1918 from the college of law at the University of Nebraska.

Son Of James Dobry Testifies In His Behalf

ALIBI OFFERED FOR DEFENDANT

Claimed To Have Been At Home Of Son Time Of Killing.

SCHUYLER, Neb., June 13—(AP)—An alibi was offered in District court here Wednesday for James Dobry, on trial for first degree murder in connection with the death of William Henesh, 35, last January. The defendant's son, Adolph, testified that his father ate supper with him the evening of the slaying, then returned to his own home a few hundred yards away and stayed there apparently until 9 p. m. at least. The defendant himself was expected to testify during the afternoon.

"I went out in the yard about 9 o'clock," said Adolph, "and saw the lights in his house shining brightly through the bare winter trees."

Henesh was supposed to have been slain about 8:30 p. m. and his body was found in his own blazing automobile two miles from the Dobry farm. The Dobrys did not know about the killing, the witness added, until next morning.

Says Attitude Paternal.

Adolph cast new light also on the relations between his father and Catherine Vondra, 30 ,year old school teacher who boarded at Adolph's home. The state contention is that jealousy over Miss Vondra's affections led to the slaying, and she has testified that she had rejected a proposal of marriage from James Dobry, and had accepted one from Henesh.

But Adolph said he never had regarded his father's attitude towards Miss Vondra in any other light than paternal. The aged farmer would talk to her in a fatherly way, he said, and used to drive her from Schuyler to the farm boarding house until Henesh took over the chore. No word of James Dobry abusing Miss Vondra ever had reached his ears, Adolph said.

The only change noticeable in Dobry during the months before the killing, his son said, was increasing feebleness. He had taken his meals at Adolph Dobry's home since the death of his wife several years previously.

MERVIN C. MILLER FUNERAL SERVICE HELD AT SEWARD

(Special to The Star.)

SEWARD, Neb., June 13—Funeral services for Mervin C. Miller, 69, prominent merchant of Seward, who died Monday, were held Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church. Rev. C. H. Prouty officiated. He was a native of Cumberland, Penn., coming to Seward about forty years ago, and engaging in the drygoods business. He had always been active in civic affairs.

Active pallbearers were: Joseph Rupp, Harry A. Cummins, John Curry, A. C. Floto, Ben Goehner, and Frank Graf. Honorary pallbearers were: T. H. Wake, H. T. Jones, J. F. Coesen, Ed Geesen, Charles Barth, W. H. Smith, T. C. Samuson, Robert T. Cattle, H. A. Heumann and John F. Zimmerer.

Bids Received For Federal Building Planned David City

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—Bids for the construction of a post-office at David City, Neb., opened by the treasury today, showed the following proposals: Bussboon and Baum, Salina, Kas., $37,000; Hiram Lloyd Buildings and Construction Co., St. Louis, $37,209; and Peter Kiewit's Sons Co., Omaha, $37,390.

FIRST WHEAT OF YEAR MARKETED

Brings 80 Cents Per Bushel at Elevator At Carleton.

(Special to The Star.)

CARLETON, Neb., June 13—The first wheat of the season was marketed here Tuesday when George Harrison sold about 250 bushels which he had just harvested by combine, to the Shannon Grain company. It is the earliest date of sale on record in this vicinity and is believed to be the first of the new winter wheat crop to be marketed in Neabraska. A year ago the earliest wheat marketing was on June 23. Harrison's wheat brought 80 cents a bushel graded on a No. 2 basis and tested 59 pounds to the bushel.

Last year's harvest averaged from 10 to 12 bushels to the acre and this year's yield is the lowest in several years, according to George H. Taylor, assistant manager of the Shannon Grain company. Harrison's crop averaged 6 to 7 bushels to the acre. Four other farmers who are harvesting with combines will market their wheat during the week it has been indicated, while those who are using binders will wait until it dries out before threshing.

O'MALLEY SAYS NOT CANDIDATE

Will Not Seek Nomination For United States Senate.

OMAHA, June 13— (AP)—George W. O'Malley, collector of internal revenue for Nebraska, will not be a candidate for the democratic nomination for United tSates senator, he declared today. O'Malley said press of work due to increased duties since he took the federal position, his inability to properly finance a campaign, and his wish to prevent wasted effort on the part of his friends led him to decline to enter the race.

"I am not a candidate for the senate and will not be in this campaign. I am very much interested in the success of the democratic party and feel that the time has arrived when the voters should make their decision as to whom they are going to support for this very important office, and that any element of uncertainty should be removed. I am happy in my present position and expect to give it my entire time," O'Malley said.

Ritchie For Morehead.

OMAHA, June 13— (AP)—William Ritchie of Omaha, democrat who is opposing Congressman Burke for the democratic nomination for senator, revealed that he was urging Congressman Morehead to enter the race in opposition to Burke. Ritchie announced that he was sending a number of letters to outstate publications, outlining his opposition to Burke and urging support in his move to induce Morehead to enter the race.

Kearney Expects To Obtain Water Soon

Gates of Junior Canals Along the Platte are Ordered Closed For Benefit of Old One.

KEARNEY, Neb., June 13—(AP)—O. L. Erickson, president of the Central Nebraska Water Users association, received word today that R. H. Willis, state irrigation director, had ordered closed all junior canals along the Platte river for the benefit of the Kearney canal, the oldest priority in the state.

The junior canals are the ones with filing dates later than 1889. The Kearney canal rights date to 1882.

Erickson is sure that water will arrive here within a week unless the flow in western Nebraska is still further decreased.

Latest information is that 198,270 acre feet of water are impounded in the Pathfinder reservoir and that the outflow is 830 second feet, with only 670 second feet crossing the state line. There was a flow of only 70 feet Tuesday at North Platte. Engineers say a flow of 1,500 feet is needed there to meet the needs of lower Platte valley irrigators.

However, 500 second feet, even if not routed through the Dawson county canal to reduce evaporation, will supply Kearney canal needs.

REFUSE TO LOWER SCHOOL DISTRICT LAND VALUATIONS

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 13—(AP)—A demand of farm owners holding 2,000 acres of land in the Falls City school district that a lower valuation be granted on the ground that the high school levy makes their property less valuable was rejected by the board of equalization here Tuesday.

The board suggested that the owners take the matter to the courts for a decision. Representatives of the owners said this would be done.

In presenting their side of the case, the owners said that land in the district paid as much as $3.05 an acre because of the heavy school tax, while adjoining land outside in some instances was taxed but $1 an acre.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS CLOSE MEETING

Jane Bell Of Grant Is Made Honorary Grand Queen.

HASTINGS, Neb., June 13—(AP)—Jane Bell of Grant, member of Bethel No. 21 at Ogallala, was chosen honorary grand queen at the thirteenth annual Job's Daughter's session here Tuesday. Mrs. Margaret Nelson of Fremont was chosen grand guardian, succeeding Mrs. Leona McCall of Alliance.

Frances McKenzie, the retiring honorary state queen, presided over the meeting attended here by 250 persons.

The tenth anniversary of Hastings Bethel No. 8 was celebrated Monday night at a banquet and dance attended by 600.

Other officers named: Lucille Landerman, Grand Island, senior princess; Mary Idalean Anderson, Fremont, junior queen; O. C. Wisdom of Kimball, associate grand guardian; Hazel Orbiltree, Omaha, grand secretary; Mrs. Bess Morris, Alliance, grand treasurer.

FISHING BAN LIFTED.

AUGUSTA, Me., June 13—(AP)—A statewide ban on stream fishing, smoking and building of fires in the woods, in force since June 1, was lifted by Gov. Louis J. Brann today with a warning that caution in the matter of fire should be exercised by everyone in the woods.

TRUCKERS CODE IS COMMENDED

Transport Association Retains Kile Martin President.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 13—(AP)—Kile E. Martin of Pilger was re-elected president of the Nebraska Motor Transport association here Tuesday at the annual convention. The meeting was attended by approximately 100 truck operators.

W. A. Gordon of Omaha was chosen first vice president, John Harder, second vice president, Charles E. Hall of Omaha secretary-treasurer. Directors chosen were Charles Darling of Auburn Ernest Dickman of Clarkson, A. W. Bouquet of Omaha and C. J. Sheldon of Ashland.

Martin and Hall both praised the NRA as the beginning of a new era in the trucking business. Codes, they said, should be cherished as an opportunity to abolish cutthroat prices. Trucks, it was pointed out, constitute 5 per cent of the motor vehicles registered in the state and pay 27 per cent of the license fees and gasoline tax.

H. T. Williamson, assistant state director of the NRA, said the principal burden of enforcement of the code lays on the industry itself. Where the industry is not integrated the codes will have to be rewritten, he said.

Williamson declared he was not defending the idea of the NRA as it didn't need defending with 95 per cent of the people back of it. Profits will not come until the mass of the unemployed return to work, he said.

A. C. Tilley, maintenance engineer in the state highway department, told of the task of enforcing the motor vehicle laws with a force of three men. He quoted figures showing the growth of the trucking business and urged uniform vehicle laws and reciprocity between states. He commended the truckers on their safety policies and asked them to stress safety even more in the future.

Falls Under Disc Not Badly Injured

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 12—(AP)—James Tubach, 8, fell beneath the blades of a disc Tuesday yet escaped without critical injury. His body was bruised and cut all over but the attending physician said none of the wounds would prove dangerous. James, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Tubach, Falls City farmers, fell from the rear of a wagon from which the disc was trailing. He was rushed here for treatment.

MRS. R. H. MILLER DIES.

(Special to The Star).

AURORA, Neb., June 13—Mrs. R. H. Miller, 71, a former resident of Aurora, died suddenly Monday at the home of her daughter, Ada Sisson in Kearney. Her death came just one week following that of her sister, Mrs. Sophia Wolff, 80, who was found dead in her chair. She is survived by one son, C. A. Miller of Aurora, three daughters, Edith Palmer and Cora Miller, both of Council Bluffs, and Ada Sisson. Burial was Wednesday at Aurora.

Treating Animals Bitten By a Skunk Which Had Rabies

ST. PAUL, Neb., June 13—(AP)—Dr. A. E. Hasselbaich, local veterinarian, yesterday began treating two horses, several head of cattle and a dog for rabies, after he received word from Norton Laboratories at Lincoln that a skunk head sent there for examination Thursday showed the animal to have had rabies. James Jensen living east of here stopped to let his team rest when the skunk darted out of some weeks and bit both horses and then started for him. He ran for the barnyard, grabbed a pitchfork, and finally managed to kill the skung after it had attacked some cows and bitten the family dog.

CONTRACTS ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

South Omaha Bridge, Rising City Waterworks, Arcadia School.

OMAHA, June 13—(AP)—Approval of the contract for construction of the South Omaha bridge was announced here today by PWA officials. John Latenser, jr., state PWA engineer, said it was the last major obstacle to be overcome, and attorneys for the Kansas City Bridge company, holder of the contract, said work probably would begin in the near future.

Announcement of the approval of the contract followed a conference between C. J. Campbell, Lincoln, PWA legal adviser, and Latenser.

Latenser, also announced approval of a PWA allotment of $13,485 for waterworks improvements at Rising City, approval of contracts for installation of electrical equipment in the new school building at Arcadia and for plumbing and heating work at the same school.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES.

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 13 — Word reached here Tuesday of the death at Oklahoma City of Mrs. Florence Sullivan, former resident and a daughter of T. F. Sullivan, once a Falls City lumberman. She leaves a son and three daughters.

JOHN BULL'S METAMORPHOSIS.

JOHN BULL traditionally prided himself upon his sense of honor and integrity in financial dealings. While it stirred his blood to refer to an empire upon which the sun never set, his most prideful boast was that his word was as good as his bond in every part of the world.

The British position in reference to its debt is becoming more apparent since London, through its representative in Washington, notified the American government it would not be in a position to make its payments, due June 15, on the debt owing the United States. Sir Austen Chamberlain, the head of the British exchequer, was very adroit in his note. He placed the blame for the British failure at the doorstep of America ascribing it to the unfortunate language contained in the Johnson bill. To make a "token" payment, Mr. Chamberlain said, would avail nothing to Britain. Under the terms of the Johnson law, Britain still would be a debt defaulter, classed along with other nations who did not pay so much as a cent toward discharging either the interest or the principal of their obligations. Then why should the British reach into their pockets to pay? The plea is devilishly diabolical because it would seem to indicate a desire on the part of the debtor actually to do something toward preserving its standing as a responsible nation financially.

Now it appears Mr. Chamberlain was practicing some of the art made famous by Talleyrand, Bismarck, Disraeli, and other distinguished diplomats of bygone ages. He had his fingers crossed while a benevolent face and a kindly fatherly eye embodied his language with a ring of the utmost sincerity.

In what is described as a strong note sent to London, in which the suggestion is made the payment might be made "in goods," London dispatches indicate that the British view is that "payment in goods only would complicate the situation." Well, that's that. At last the debt problem is out in the open. There is no need for further pretext and sham. While Mr. Roosevelt, through his secretary of state, Cordell Hull, was pointing out that instead of 262 million dollars, the British could escape the stigma of a defaulter on the debt by payment of $55,670,765; it will be recalled that a few weeks ago the British exchequer with pardonable pride pointed to its achievement of balancing its budget during the last fiscal year, with a surplus in excess of 150 millions. It still would possess a surplus after paying its debts. And further to indicate that all save one of the European nations have gone over, bag and baggage, to the French concoction of international debt repudiation on obligations arising out of the World war, the British dismiss the proposal of accelerating trade by debt payment with goods.

It is a sorry day for international finance.

The impossibilty of payment in gold of a debt more than six times the total world stock of gold long has been recognized. The alternative of payment in goods has been discussed for almost an equal length of time, but never before sanctioned officially by a responsible spokesman for the American government.

What has happened to the proud old Anglo-Saxon strain, which, above all other things, insisted, no matter how much it hurt, upon discharging obligations to the best of its ability? Uncle Sam is not insisting upon cash. He is suggesting goods and services represented by those goods. He is suggesting what the British at one time desired.

The cold, hard-boiled truth is that Europe has set her mind upon debt repudiation. She does not intend to pay a cent. The British, the last, save tiny Finland, to toss honor to the winds, offers the apologetic explanation that she can't collect from those owing her; that to attempt to do so would invite another world economic collapse; and that since she cannot collect she cannot pay. Has British statesmanship answered the question of what John Bull will do toward payment of the obligations owing to his own sons?

NAMING QUINTUPLETS.

THE Dionne family, living on a farm near Corbell, Ontario, in anticipating a blessed event, had expected only one baby. But five arrived, five girls. There were six youngsters in the family already. The matter of names must have been one of some importance and difficulty. But here they are—Yvonne, Annette, Cecile, Emilie, and Marie—all musical, and all beautiful. They go especially well with Dionne.

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING.

ONE hundred per cent popular approval will be registered for the protest of the American medical association against the United States government furnishing free hospital service to cabinet officers, senators, congressmen, their families, and servants.

It comes as news to most people that hospital care and treatment are being provided at government expense to these persons. Such things as free shaves and haircuts for legislators in the capitol barber shop have been mentioned from time to time in press dispatches: and recently attention has been called to the practice of congressmen and senators charging up their private telegrams to Uncle Sam, who from time immemorial has been carrying their letters and printed speeches free of charge. But when the government assumes the cost of private medical care for members of the households of officials to whom it pays large salaries and allows very liberal expense accounts besides, that seems to be piling it on a little too thick.

The organized doctors may be a little selfish in demanding that government hospitals and dispensaries cease catering to the needs, if not to the whims, of public dignitaries. But the taxpayers, who must foot the bills for all these services, will side with the medical men regardless. They don't subscribe to the theory that just because a man is on the government payroll he is entitled to get his "keep" from the treasury on top of his salary.

Why is it that senators and congressmen do not take the initiative in stopping such misuse of government funds? Surely, they must know that they lower themselves in the esteem of their constituents by sanctioning a system which enables them and others to receive such favors which must be paid for with money contributed by all the people directly or indirectly.

Some day, the electorate of the country is going to rise up and demand the elimination of all such unworthy practices, just as some thirty years ago they revolted against and abolished the railroad free pass and rebate systems then in vogue under which public officials rode free on trains and favored shippers enjoyed secret advantages over their competitors in the form of preferential rates.

The people cannot expect government to function on a high plane so long as its agents continue to enjoy valuable special privileges and emoluments to which they are not morally entitled. Unless these conditions are changed, some heads will be likely to roll at Washington sooner or later.

MR. CRAMB'S REPLY

IN ANOTHER column on this page will be found a letter from W. F. Cramb of Fairbury, replying to an editorial which appeared in this paper Tuesday. Mr. Cramb says the Jefferson county board did not object to fixing a levy as required by the federal government, and he supports the statement with an appended copy of the proffered agreement which the board was willing to sign. His position on this point is established. And yet, Mr. Cramb himself in numerous articles has been assailing what he calls "dollar matching," which, if it means anything at all, from a practical standpoint means abandonment of the practice.

The effect of it upon the pockets of the taxpayers of his own county may be understood when the actual figures show that the federal government poured $40,150 into Jefferson county to alleviate distress and suffering. Without it, the taxpayers of that county would have been compelled to raise that amount by direct local levy, unless the pressing emergency for relief were ignored or only partially handled.

Mr. Cramb's quarrel with relief is one of management. He wants it handled through county boards of commissioners. Granted that Jefferson county is blessed with an exceptionally efficient and capable board, Mr. Cramb should recognize that the problem of relief extends to forty-eight states, and the organization established is to cover every state and every county in the United States. The federal government is not going to pay out enormous sums of money without having something to say, without having supervision of the manner in which it is spent. It has to have that supervision for its own protection. It is ridiculous to suggest that the president of the United States, acting through his subordinates, should assume responsibility for the spending of hundreds of millions of dollars, and that he should turn that money over to local county boards in thousands of counties in the United States, to permit them to spend it as they see fit. If the positions were reversed, Mr. Cramb woud not do it, and he should not expect others to do it.

Mr. Cramb, with considerable force, challenges us to defend the practice of administering relief, without wide publicity, "newspaper publicity," the publication of the records of relief claims approved in the official newspapers. He points out there is a statute compelling the county boards, in the expenditure of tax funds, to publish the record. Mr. Cramb knows how that law got on the books. He knows the selfish interest behind it. He knows that through the publication of claims allowed by county boards, the newspaper itself might benefit. We do not know whether the paper he edits carries the record of the county board proceedings. But we do know that in this emergency, hundreds of families who have never asked a cent of charity have been compelled to swallow their pride and to accept relief with the greatest reluctance. Why add to their tribulations? Why hold them up to publicity? The regular charity ward is not an emergency case. His name is public, as distinguished from the one, who, jobless in this emergency, without funds, and with hungry ones at home, finds it necessary for the first time in his life to ask his government to provide the bare necessities for him.

We plead guilty to being a "sob sister" when it comes to this harassing problem of relief. There has been so much suffering, so much distress, so much of lost confidence, frustrated hopes, despair, and black nights, that it seems impossible to look upon saddened people without compassion and sympathy. It is a situation which should arouse neighborliness and tenderness, instead of bitterness and a spirit of suspicion.

PLENTY HARD LUCK.

FOR a small country, El Salvador, nestling on the southwest coast of Central America, has had just about as much excitement and grief as any state on the entire surface of the earth. It has an area of only 13,173 square miles and a population of only 1,459,578, or only a few thousand more than the state of Nebraska. Yet it has had revolutions galore, earthquakes of the most awesome and destructive character, and now a deluge of 25 inches, falling within one day has drowned thousands of inhabitants and wrought untold property damage.

Two earthquakes in recent years did tremendous damage to the capital city, San Salvador, which has a population of 96,477, they having occurred on June 8, 1917, and April 28, 1919. Many people were killed on each occasion, while property destroyed represented a vast sum.

The latest revolution was on Dec. 3, 1931, when the constitutional government was overthrown and Maximiliano Hernando Martinez was declared military director. For a long time the United States and the Central American republics refused to recognize the new government, but in February, 1932, the Salvadoran congress declared Martinez's advancement from the vice presidency to the presidency constitutionally legal and he is completing the four year term.

El Salvador is a one crop country, notwithstanding the fact that it is rich in tropical forests and minerals, which remain undeveloped. Coffee is practically the entire source of income, and it can be readily seen that a 25 inch rain would play havoc with the bushes, thus becoming a major catastrophe for the little country. Fortunately little is required to sustain life in that part of the world, and there is little doubt that the natives will be able to pull through in some sort of way.

It is estimated that Americans have in the country direct investments to the amount of $26,466,000, which always were more or less precarious. Imports from this country amount to only about one-sixth of the total, while exports to the United States are one-twelfth of all sent out. Our proportionate commerce with El Salvador is not as great as with other Central American countries.

MARYLAND.

THE proud old state of Maryland, hallowed with reverential memories for its contributions during the Colonial era and throughout the earlier years of America to liberty, next Saturday celebrates a birthday—the three hundredth anniversary of its founding in 1634.

Its most pretentious ceremony will take place at the site of what was St. Mary's city, where Lord Baltimore's colonists constructed a community, after landing on an island in the St. Mary's river, where they could see an unknown enemy in case of attack. It became the first capital of Maryland, after thirty-five years of building, a city with streets, a town square, scores of frame and log structures, topped off with sixty fine brick buildings. Among the latter was the state house, the governor's mansion, public offices, and churches. Not one of the relics of this earliest settlement remain, although steps now are being taken toward restoration. But St. Mary's, lacking the weather beaten monuments of its Colonial past, did boast of a modern girls' modern boarding ing school, a church and parsonage, a graveyard, green pastures, tobacco fields, and plots of grain.

Time only serves to emphasize the importance of this Maryland civilization. It was in an era of the greatest intolerance, filled with the cruelty of witchcraft, the beacon light of those who believed in tolerance. It was the citadel of free speech and free thought, along with its proud neighbor, Virginia. And throughout all of its history, it has kept alive the fundamentals of democracy to which it gave such magnificent devotion when democratic thought was in the jelly stage.

QUESTION.
Hoboken, N. J.

As an advocate of nternationalism, you do not, I suppose, indorse those nationalegotisms embodied in the writings of super-patriots who accuse the rest of the world of all sorts of inferiorities. Then what would you say is the proper scope and expression of national pride?

ANSWER.

A true appreciation of all national merits, both at home and abroad, is the corrective of exaggerated notions about the particular superiorities of our own nation This was the principle which Dr. Johnson had in mind when he said travel was a great educator because it freed the intelligent observer from has captivity to the town pump.

He realizes that other peoples and their laws, manners and customs have decided, advantages due to various causes. So, while he still loves his own land wholeheartedly, he loves it more intelligently.

When our banking practices and methods break down, thoughtful citizens begin to inquire why deposits are safer in the banks of Canada and Great Britain than in some of our banking institutions here. When criminal justice collapses in our courts and notorious gangsters go unwhipped of the law, we naturally ask our legislators and lawyers to clean house. Not that the whole blame rests on the legal profession. Americans at large must share it so long as juries cannot be trusted to render righteous verdicts and witnesses commit perjury without a qualm.

I know no country which has passed so rapidly from a state of self-exaltation to one of self-censure than our own. The United States is now one of the readiest nations on earth to detect and confess its shortcomings. With all our fervid nationalism we are not content to go it blindly nor to tell the cynical world that we stand for the good old U. S. A. regardless of whether it is right or wrong. On the contrary, we insist that our shortcomings must be brought to light and rectified. Tall talk about "licking creation" has been supplanted by sharp self-chastisement laid on pretty stiffly. And the end is not yet.

QUESTION.
Roanoke, Va.

What grounds have we for believing in a general judgment?

ANSWER.

The fact that the study of comparative religions shows a well-nigh universal belief in such a judgment. The forms that belief assumes are often crude, but they testify to the deep-rooted conviction in the human race that sooner or later every individual will be required to give an account for deeds done in the body before a tribunal more august than that of any earthly judge.

The great Bishop Butler singled out as one of the characteristic marks of conscience that if it is not forcibly silenced it "naturally and always goes on to anticipate a higher and more effectual sentence which shall hereafter affirm its own." Those who have reflected on the significance of this inward monitor know that it echoes the voice of Him before whom all our motives and actions are naked and open.

Hence it is not surprising that religious literature abounds with more or less imaginative descriptions of the Final Assize and its rewards and punishments. The Bible depicts the supreme moment when the books are opened, the sheep separated from the goats, and the unready are excluded from the marriage feast. All of which converges toward the cardinal truth that the wrongs of time are to be righted in eternity's light, when justice shall be done and God's will prevail.

For His disciples their Lord's teaching affords two luminous certainties—that there is a future life and that God will call us to judgment. The law of the harvest that what a man sows he reaps is plainly evident here, and it is to be more fully demonstrated hereafter. Let us be thankful that He who decrees our fate is the all merciful as well as the all righteous one. His faithful children desire His ultimate arbitration. Millions deeply injured by their fellows have committed their cause to God, and will do so again. The early Christians were persecuted and butchered, but they remained steadfast because they expected vindication from on high. That vindication covers the case of the world's oppressed and harassed children.

QUESTION.
Evansville, Ind.

I have two sisters, the one a church member who is sulky and the other not a church member who is cheerful. How do you account for that?

ANSWER.

Possibly by difference in temperament or physical health or both. If your sulky sister has to contend with a contrary disposition, why not consider how much more difficult she would be without religion. Again, if your cheerful sister is naturally buoyant, how much more useful her buoyancy might be with religion. One learns to view domestic appraisals with some caution because relatives who are constantly together are not always the fairest judges of each other's qualities. Not all somber reticence is injurious, and it is the loud and ready laugh which occasionally proclaims the vacant mind.

Yet I agree with the burden of your complaint that a person should find joy in his or her faith. One proof of its truth is the ease and comfort it gives life. As surely as a well fitting dress pleases both your good sisters, so surely should a well fitting religion afford solid satisfaction to those who profess it.

Undeniably to many religion is a burden, not an inspiration, and it may even be a bore. They find little thrill in it and transmit less. It comes to them as a code of repressive rules and not in its majestic reality as the highest possible expression of personality. For them it does not mean the happy consecration of all their faculties and the fullest channel of all their activities.

St. Paul had these sour saints in mind when he exclaimed: "Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say, rejoice." To them, however, the apostolic command is a counsel of perfection. Do not be impatient with your sister. Show her a more excellent way. You know her bitter side. Help her to subdue it. Much household trouble could be avoided if every one encouraged relatives on their better sides. So, try this sort of medicine on the case in question and see how it works.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

SOME FOOT ILLS INEVITABLE, OTHERS MAY BE PREVENTED

Although certain foot troubles are inevitable, depending, as they do, on deformities or abnormalities with which the individual is born (such, for instance, to make the point clear, as club-foot), it is nevertheless a fact that most of the miseries which come from our feet are acquired and can be prevented.

Dr Clendening

The hygiene of the foot should begin in infancy. The infant's foot is almost entirely cartilage with very little bone and, therefore, could not, even if the nervous system were developed, undertake the function of walking without injury. For this reason, too early attempts to teach the infant to walk or to stand up on its feet for the edification and light of doting parents cation and delight of doting parents and grandparents, are to be discouraged.

The infant's foot, however, grows quite rapidly, and provision should be made for this growth. The cartilages turn into bone, beginning soon after birth, and the infant usually will be able to make at tempts at walking when the feet are strong enough to bear the weight of the body. Incidentally, many cases of bow-leg are due to too early attempts to force the infant to stand or walk.

Most important in the hygiene of the infant's foot is the question of stockings, and the principal damage that is done along this line is in having short stockings. Mothers do not seem to think that tight stockings are a disadvantage to an infant before it has learned to walk but, as has been said above, the feet are growing, and the use of woolen stockings which are too small, which shrink and become hard with washing, are liable to hamper comfortable development. Toes are frequently misshapen by undue pressure put on them by short stockings.

The hygiene of the adult foot is confined to a few very simple things: (1) Proper footgear, (2) bathing, (3) exercise, and (4) proper attention to the nails and pressure points.

The subject of proper footgear will be taken up tomorrow.

Bathing is of great importance to the foot because it is covered with shoes and stockings in the daytime and bedclothes at night, and almost never gets a chance to appreciate the benefits of fresh air and sunlight. Perspiration and skin detritus accumulate, and proper bathing and washing of the feet with soap and water are, therefore, especially necessary in this region. Frequently foot trouble can be relieved by using contrast baths, first of warm or hot water and then of cold water. After bathing, the feet should be dried with especial care, paying attention to the spaces between the toes and mopping these with cotton on an orangewood stick, if necessary.

Exercises for the feet are not always necessary except in people who have somewhat weak feet, and for that reason have pain due to stretching of the muscles. Suitable foot exercises were described in the first article this week.

TIME.

Time is a teacher calm and wise
Whose blundering children, day by day,
He looks upon with patient eyes,
Knowing how much they long to play.

He sees them groping through despair.
He hears them grumbling at their sums,
And smiles and lets them struggle there
Until at last the answer comes

Unmoved by questionings and pleas,
Tomorrow's page he will not turn
No eye into the future sees
The lessons only Age can learn

Never at single bounds we gain
The heights the souls of men must reach,
But little by little we attain
The wisdom Time alone can teach

Editor Cramb Gives His Version Of Relief Quarrel

Fairbury, Neb., June 12.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In tonight's paper your leading editorial misrepresents a situation in which you use my name. I am asking you to give the same publicity and as quickly as you can, to the correct state of facts which these:

The FERA of Nebraska—the state federal relief administration—prepared an agreement whereby counties of the state were required to do certain things if federal relief funds were to be continued to such counties.

Your misrepresentation, so far as this county — Jefferson — and six others are concerned, is in asserting that these counties had refused to put up their share of relief money. That statement is absolutely false and I ask you to withdraw it and give the facts contained in the resolutions adopted at Beatrice Thursday, June 7, a copy of which I enclose. Will you show a fair spirit of journalism by publishing these resolutions?

These counties offered and still offer to levy for relief all the funds the laws of the state of Nebraska will permit a county board to levy. Can we do any more? Where does your sob-sister stuff go to when confronted with these facts?

All these counties ask is two things: First, that these funds shall not be wasted and to avoid such waste, that they be spent under joint federal and county authority. Is that failing to do our part? Does that make us cold, hard-hearted and unsympatnetic and reveal that all the unselfishness—with other people's money, it seems—is located at Washington, D. C., and Lincoln, Neb.?

The second condition we ask is that the veil of secrecy be removed and this relief business be opened to public view. Can you as a newspaper man, Mr. Editor, condone secrecy in public affairs? Please read the clause in that proposed contract which is this:

"But under no conditions will the names of the recipients of relief in any form be made available as public information."

To subscribe to this a county board must violate its oath of office for the statutes of Nebraska specifically prescribe that no money can be paid out of a county treasury except by warrant and that a record must be kept and that proceedings of the county board must be published, not only be "available as public information," but published in a newspaper.

What have you to answer to this attempt to overrule the statutes of Nebraska? May I ask why you have not published this proposed contract so the people of the state may know what is being required and make up their own minds whether we in the counties have been negligent of our duties to unfortunate people or whether we are trying to get the money put up by both federal and county governments into the hands of those who need it instead of wasting it in administrative red tape, experimental schemes of half-baked theorists and in supporting a wasteful and inefficient bureaucracy.

Please remember, Mr. Editor, that truth will prevail and you are concealing the truth. When you can bring proof that local communities have neglected their duty to the poor and unemployed, I will subside, but when I see funds of the people being wasted by an administration located at a distance and assuming powers never intended, I will do what I can to get those funds directed to the place where they should go—into the hands of the unfortunate people of these try ing mes. Will you have the fairness to publish the enclosed article upon which you based your editorial so that the people may judge to themselves whether we are right or wrong? W. F. CRAMB

The Beatrice Resolutions follow:

BEATRICE, Neb., June 7, 1934

At a convention of the members of the boards of county commissioners and supervisors of the counties of Gage, Jefferson, Thayer, Otoe, Pawnee, Saline and Nemaha, state of Nebraska, the following resolutions were introduced and on motion were nanimously adopted:—

Be it resolved: That it is the sense of this convention that the proposed articles of agreement submitted by the Nebraska State Emergency Relief administration to the various counties of Nebraska is not acceptable to said seven counties in the following particulars:

1.—Expenditures of county and federal funds for relief of the poor and unemployed in the various counties should be under the direct control and supervision of the respective county boards. County relief directors should be appointed by the county boards, subject to the approval of the FERA, and subject to removal by the county boards. Other administrative employes in the counties should be appointed by the county boards and the salaries of the county directors and his subordinates should be fixed by the county boards.

2.—All expenditures for unemployment and poor relief in the counties should be matters of public record.

3.—Wage scales should be fixed by the county boards for each county and should be uniform within each county this to apply to both federal and county funds.

Be it further resolved: That each of the counties herein pledges itself to levy for all county purposes the amount of four mills, the legal limit or in lieu thereof to supply funds from other sources equivalent thereto; provided that the counties under township organization shall not be required to levy for county and township purposes more than four mills total. It is further understood that each of these several counties will expend from the funds so levied and appropriated as much for relief purposes as may be necessary, within the limits of said levy and appropriation, and consistent with the carrying on of other necessary governmental activities.

Be it further resolved: That the interests of the poor and unemployed, as well as of the taxpayers, require that the cumbersome and expensve relief administration machinery, in nation, state and county, should be simplified, so as to reduce materially the present extravagant overhead cost.

Be it further resolved: That the secretary of this convention transmit copies of this resolution to the Hon. Charles W. Bryan, governor of Nebraska, to the Secretary of the Nebraska State Emergency Relief Administration to Rowland Haynes, State Director, FERA, to each representative of Nebraska in the congress, and to each county clerk in Nebraska.

Passed and adopted June 7, 1934.

ARTHUR S. BARSTEN,
Chairman.

Attest:
T. J. SULLIVAN, Secretary.

The proposed contract:

"The expenditure of all county and federal funds for relief purposes other than "Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief" and "Institutional Care of Poor" is to be under the direct supervision and disposition of a county relief director. This director shall be qualified for the job and approved by the State Administrator of Federal Emergency Relief. Expenditures are to be confined to the ten items listed in Paragraph 1 of this section unless other items are added by mutual agreement between the State Emergency Relief Administration and the county board. All relief granted is to conform to standards approved by the State Emergency Relief administration and it will be the duty of the county relief director to determine which expenditures are to be made from the county funds and which from Federal funds.

"The county board of Jefferson county, Nebraska, agrees to include in its 1934 county levy not less than one-half mill for "Unemployment Relief' and in addition not less than 1.43 mills for a "Poor Relief Fund" both of the above to be exclusive of levies made for Soldiers' and Sailors Relief, Mothers' Pension, Poor Farm or County Farm funds. In addition they agree to levy at least the same number of mills as were levied in 1933 for "Mothers' Pension" and "Soldiers and Sailors' Relief funds.

"In addition to the above levies it is agreed that all Inheritance Tax balances on hand at this date, and collections up to March 1, 1935, are also to be used for poor relief only.

"It is agreed that the county board will levy individually for Mothers' Pension Fund, Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Fund, Poor Relief Fund and Unemployment Relief Fund, and it is specifically understood that these funds shall not be levied for, included in, or made a part of the County General fund. It is further understood that an individual accounting will be maintained for Old Age Pension funds, Mothers' Pension fuds, Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief funds, Poor Farm or ounty Farm funds, Poor Relief funds, unemployment Relief funds, Inheritance Tax funds, and other funds that are used for relief purposes. It is further agreed that the county board will make available monthly or as often as may be required, to the State Emergency Relief administration, statements showing the actual condition of each and all county funds

"It is agreed that the county relief director shall make an accurate and thorough accounting to the county board of all county funds expended at his, or her, direction, but under no conditions will the names of the recipients of Relief in any form be made available as public information.

"Before grants are made by the State Emergency Relief Committee for use in the county this agreement is to be signed by a majority of the members of the county board and returned to Lincoln for the approval of the State Emergency Relief committee not later than (date not fixed).

"In the event that this agreement is not entered into by Jefferson county, it is understood that no request will be made for Federal Emergency Relief by the county or granted by the State Emergency Relief Administration to the County before August 1, 1935."

The Foolish Sparrow

Who runs a risk when there's no need
Is guilty of a foolish deed.
—Old Mother Nature.

Life is too precious to take chances with it—I mean, to tak unnecessary chances. Yet people are continually doing it. Life, the most precious thing we have, is continually being risked, and more often than not for no good cause. Sometimes it is done deliberately. Sometimes it is the result of carelessness, sometimes the result of foolishness and sometimes the result of ignorance.

Consider the adventure of the foolish Sparrow. He was the son of Little Friend the Song Sparrow, and he was old enough to have known better for he was fully grown, a year old, and with a mate and nest of his own. He had spent the winter in the Sunny South. Returning in the spring, he had found that his parents were not nesting this year over by the Smiling Pool, so he and his modest little mate decided that it was just the place for them. So they had built a snug nest on the ground under a little bush on the edge of the swamp, at one end of the Smiling Pool. It was a well chosen place, for tall ferns grew all around it so that it was well hidden.

Four eggs were laid, and in due time four hungry babies kept father and mother busy from daylight to dark, hunting food for them. Now, of course, they hunted in all directions, and in the course of a day crossed the Smiling Pool many times. They thought nothing of doing this, for what was there to fear in the Smiling Pool? Flying over it they never gave it a thought.

Usually they flew well above the water, but one morning father was in a hurry to get across the upper end and he flew low, just skimming over the water and the lily pads. Now this was a foolish thing to do, as he was to find out. He could just as well have flown a little higher, so of course he was foolish not to do the thing he knew was safe. I presume he just didn't think anything about it.

He flew out from the bank and flitted across just an inch or so above the water. He was half-way across, just above the lily pads, when something happened, something to give him one of the greatest scares of his life. There was a sudden movement among those lily pads; he gave a shriek as he felt a sharp tug at his tail For just an instant he though he was being pulled down into the water He beat his wings frantically. Something gave way, and he was free, but he all but pitched down into the water. How he flew! But somehow he didn't feel right as he flew. He felt as if he was going to fall headlong and this made him beat his wings all the faster.

He reached the bank and alighted. Then he looked back. What do you thing his startled eyes saw? Grandfather Frog sitting on a big lily pad, with such a look of disappointment on his face and with a bunch of feathers sticking out of his big mouth.

"I should say I'm unlucky," retorted Mr. Sparrow.

'Chuga-rum!" exclaimed Grandfather Frog in disgust, and spat out those feathers.

Mr. Sparrow turned his head and looked at himself over his shoulder. He had no tail! Not a single tail feather did he have left. Those were his tail feathers Grandfather Frog had just dropped.

"My, but you are lucky!" some one exclaimed. It was Redwing the Blackbird.

"I should say I am unlucky," retorted Mr. Sparrow, looking with dismay at the place where his tail should have been.

"Not at all," replied Redwing. "You ought to be thankul that Grandfather Frog for once wasn't quick enough. Otherwise you would be down in that big throat of his this very instant. It will be inconvenient not to have a tail, but you will grow a new one. Why were you so foolish as to fly so low?"

"I didn't know Grandfather Frog eats birds. I never heard of such a thing," replied Mr. Sparrow.

"Then you have learned something," said Redwing, drily. "That fellow eats anything he can catch and swallow."

Breakfasts Here, Dines On The Coast

Miss Dorothy Raymond Goes By Plane To Los Angeles

BREAKFAST in Lincoln—dinner in Los Angeles—not a bad record and one made by Miss Dorothy Raymond, who left Lincoln at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning by plane and arrived in Los Angeles in time for dinner.

And it would seem that Lincoln people are becoming air minded. Herbert E. Gooch attended the commencement exercises at Emma Willard school in Troy, N. Y., where his daughter, Miss Ann Gooch was a member of the graduating class, and arrived in Lincoln early this morning—by plane.

BUT THERE ARE those who are not spectacular in their travel—Mr. and Mrs. Mark Woods expect to return from Madeleine island in the usual way Friday.

AND LEAVING Friday by motor to spend a short time in Omaha are Mrs. H. P. Lau and her daughter Betty.

PERHAPS ITS the cooler weather—perhaps its just a sudden burst of energy, but things do seem to be picking up—Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Proudfit entertained a group of eight at a picnic supper.

* * *

AND TONIGHT Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Joyce are having an informal dinner for twelve guests. The after dinner hours will be devoted to bridge.

UNUSUALLY interesting guests in Lincoln will be Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Solomon of Shanghai, China, who are expected to arrive in Lincoln the latter part of July for a visit with Mrs. Solomon's sister, Mrs. W. R. McGeachin and Mr. McGeachin.

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon, who have not been back to the States for four years, are returning by way of Europe. They will spend a short time in London where Mr. Solomoni will look after some business interests, and will sail from England to New York.

From Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs Solomon will go to California to be the guests of Mrs. Solomon's mother, and from there they will sail back to China.

TWO MORE interesting guests who will arrive Saturday are Gardner and Courtney Cook of Winnetka, Ill., who will spend a week with their aunt, Mrs. William Aitken and Mr. Aitken.

AND LEAVING Friday for a gay week in Chicago are Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rogers, Eloise Rogers and Shirley Woods. The Century of Progress exposition seems to be the incentive.

FRIDAY, ALSO, is the day Dr. Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Zellers leave for Cleveland. En route they will stop here and there for a visit with a relative or two. Dr. and Mrs. Zellers expect to return in ten days or two weeks.

* * *

CONVALESCING at Lincoln General hospital following an operation, is Mrs. Sam Waugh.

AND TODAY WAS lecture, luncheon and bridge day at the Lincoln Country club, and the activities were attended by over one hundred devotees of bridge.

Foursomes, as usual, were popular, and once or twice there was an eightsome, and the odd number, seven, thrown in for something different

In one of the foursomes were Mrs E. B. Minnick, Mrs Richard Rogers, Mrs. E U. Guenzel and Mrs Reg Woodruff.

In the group of seven were Mrs. George Salalin, jr., Mrs. Lyle Holland, Mrs. Clarence Swanson, Mrs. Leland Waters, Mrs. John Lawlor and Mrs. Victor Jouvenat.

Mrs. William Beachly, Mrs. Frank DeBrown, Mrs. O. J. Junge and Mrs. B. O. Campbell were together for luncheon and bridge, and in a similar group were Mrs. William Aitken, Mrs. Leslie Grainger, Mrs. Harry K. Grainger and Mrs. Irving Chapin.

* * *

MRS. C. H. RUDGE reversed things a little today, and had her foursome for bridge during the morning, with the lecture and luncheon following.

Having luncheon together were Mrs. Frank Reeve, Mrs. Bert Reed, Mrs. Philip Aitken and Mrs. Donald Pegler.

And at another table for four were Mrs. C. W. Roberts, Mrs. Arch Bunting, Mrs. Frank Williams and Mrs. Earl Cline.

Attending the lecture together, and remaining at the club for the lecture and bridge following, were Mrs. Nathan Gold, Mrs. Joe Simon, Mrs. Charles Simon and Mrs. Albert Speier.

LUNCHING TOGETHER after the lecture, and playing a bridge foursome in the afternoon were Mrs. Al Duteau, Mrs. R. H. Talbot, Mrs. L. R. Doyle, and Mrs. F. Pace Woods.

With Mrs. Thomas Woods were Mrs. Bert Faukner, Mrs. Ed O'Shea and Mrs. Don Stewart.

Mrs. J. M. Clarke, Mrs. Fred Walt, Mrs. A. L. Smith and Mrs. John T. McGreer made up a foursome for luncheon and bridge as did Mrs. E. H. Steckley, Mrs. Walton Roberts, Mrs. M. L. Williams and Mrs. H. F. Hovland.

A MOTHER-DAUGHTER foursome included Mrs. W. R. McGeachin, Miss Mary Janet McGeachin, Mrs. Ralph Thacker and Miss May Thacker. And at another foursome table were Mrs. Joseph Albin, Mrs. H. O. Hutson, Mrs. M. J. Blish, and Mrs. C. L. Clark.

MRS. W. E. HARDY made reservations for the usual eightsome, which is really two foursomes which combine during the lecture and luncheon. In the group were Mrs. W. E. Hardy, Mrs. E. C. Ames, Miss Rose Carson, Mrs. J. C. Seacrest, Mrs. C. F. Ladd, Mrs. T. C. Munger, Mrs. E. C. Folsom, and Mrs. I. G. Chapin.

In another permanent group were Mrs. Thomas Roope, Mrs. E. J. Burkett, Mrs. Joseph Grainger and Mrs. Charles Lord.

THE ENTRIES are still coming in for the women's state golf tournament which is to be played on the Shrine course next week, June 18 to 22, inclusive. The new names on the entry list include Mrs. Carl Rohman, Mrs. R. M. Joyce, Mrs. Carl Weil, Mrs. George Westphal, Mrs. C. L. Carper, Miss Janet Lau, Mrs. George Proudfit, Mrs. Anna Elliott, Mrs. C. F. Schwarz, Mrs. Clayton Andrews, and Mrs. O. E. Jerner, all from the Lincoln Country club.

Additional names from the Eastridge club are Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Paul Royal, Mrs. Grace Darby, Mrs. Kenneth Lawson, Mrs. Donald Berry, and Mrs. William Schmoller, jr.

Mrs. J. T. Stewart of the Omaha Country club plans to play in the tournament.

BACK TO EUROPE again this summer will go Miss E. Ruth Pyrtle, who this time will be accompanied by Miss Jessie Keller. Miss Pyrtle plans to attend the N. E. A. convention in Washington, D. C., June 30, to July 5. En route to Washington she will stop in Virginia and North Carolina. On July 11, Miss Pyrtle and Miss Keller will sail for Hamburg. After spending some time in Germany, they will go to Copenhagen, Denmark, where Miss Pyrtle will spend a short time with Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen. They will go to Denmark and Sweden and from Stockholm will go by rail to Leningrad. They expect to spend twenty days in Russia, and while there will make a trip on the Volga river.

RATHGEB-SORENSEN WEDDING AT HARDY.

The Rev. Henry Dumler of Hampton read the marriage lines for Miss Madeline Frances Rathgeb, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Frank Rathgeb of Hampton, and William H. Sorensen son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sorensen of Hardy at high noon Saturday, June 9, in Seward. Twenty guests, including only the members of the immediate families, were present. The service was performed in one corner of the living room, where the altar was outlined with tall wicker baskets of ferns, Ophelia roses, and baby's breath, together with high ivory tapers in pewter candelabra, which were placed on pedestals.

When the guests had arrived, Mrs. Milo H. Cameron of Hardy sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee," with Mrs. Vera Luke of Seward as her accompanist. Mrs. Cameron also played the Mendelssohn wedding music.

Mrs S. B. Hayes of Seward served her sister as matron of honor. She wore ashes of roses crepe, with a hat and accessories in the same tone. Her shoulder corsage was of Ophelia roses and baby's breath. The maid of honor, the groom's sister, Miss Helen Sorensen, was frocked in Alice blue crepe. Her hat and accessories harmonized, and her flowers were a shoulder corsage of the Ophelia roses and swansonia.

Kathleen Hayes, niece of the bride, was the little flower girl. She had a frock of silk net. Jimmy Hayes, in a white linen suit, carried the ring.

The bridegroom had his brother, Harry Sorensen, as his best man.

Pink acetate crepe was fashioned for Mrs. Sorensen's wedding gown. With it, she wore a picture hat and accessories in the same shade. She completed her costume with a shoulder boutonniere of Ophelia roses and baby's breath.

A wedding luncheon followed the service at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Hayes, with the guest list composed of the members of the two families. They were seated at one large round table, centered with the wedding cake, and the service was was in crystal. Sprigs of baby's breath ornamented the tiered cake and marked each place.

Mrs. Sorensen is traveling in a string knit dress in rose pink, with matching accessories. After July 1, the young couple will be at home in Hardy.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and a member of Theta Phi Alpha sorority. For the last three years, she has been principal of the schools at Hardy.

HELEN CAIN BRIDE OF LEWIS ANDERSON.

The marriage of Miss Helen Cain and Lewis Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Anderson of Marquette, took place at the home of the bride's father, J. R. Cain, jr., in Omaha, at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. George A. Miller officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hanson, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, attended the couple.

Mrs. Anderson wore white organza and her attendant was in blue organza.

CITY TO REVISE TRAFFIC RULES

Council Will Vote On Amendments Next Monday.

The city council is planning to pass on three readings Monday an emergency ordinance incorporating all of the amendments that are to be made to the new traffic ordinance, Mayor Fenton B. Fleming said Wednesday. Included in the amendments will be one establishing white traffic guide lines at all O street intersections from Ninth to Seventeenth street.

Other amendments will provide for left turns between intersections, on any street in the residential section to enter private driveways, if recommendations of the safety council are approved by the commissioners. U turns, except on arterials and in the congested district, also have been recommended by the safety group.

In the business district left turns out of an alley, are to be permitted under recommendations of the safety group, along with permission to drive across a street from one alley into another.

The ordinance also provides for the lifting of all parking regulations from early evening until 2 a. m., when they will be in force on down-town streets until 5 a. m. This will mean that 15-minute spaces will be open to unlimited parking until after midnight.

The new traffic code also will define the signals drivers should use when making turns either to the right or left, and for stopping. Regulations requiring semi-annual testing of automobile lights and brakes, also are included in the measure. The next testing period begins July 1.

"I have heard nothing but commendation in connection with the white traffic guides painted on the pavement at Thirteenth and O streets early Wednesday morning," Mayor Fleming declared. "Businessmen and the general public are accepting the lines as a distinct improvement, and are accommodating themselves to the change much better than I had anticipated."

The mayor said a mistake was made when the white line along the center of O street was extended across the intersection. "It should not have been painted, and will not be when those at other intersections are made."

It is likely that because of the lines being so generally accepted, the mayor said, that the council will direct that they be painted on other intersections.

Training Grind Is Over; Fighters Await Gong

Gotham Seethes With Mitten Fever as Hour of Brawl Draws Near

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, June 13—(INS)—Everybody having recovered a measure of composure after a series of alarums and excursions, the opera bouffe heavyweight championship engagement between Primo Carnera and Max Baer, wired for sound, went out of its patter and into its dance today, with the town and its prize fight suddenly catching that last-day carnival touch of the just-before-the-battle spirit.

Now Comes Deep Meditation.

The principals, following yesterday's physical examination here, had returned to their respective camps, there to meditate deeply until called into town for the weighing-in tomorrow. Hotels were filling up with overnight guests. There was an argument for every street corner and a sap for every trimmer. The latter held some very choice locations and were asking as high as $125 a pair.

The fight, it seemed, has already sold itself well back toward the thirtieth ringside row, with lines forming steadily in front of the windows and the promoters gloating over the prospect of a $400,000 gate. Everything, in fact, seemed just splendid.

But I can't forget what I heard one of the examining physicians say about Carnera yesterday in an off-the-record talk, following the official check up at the commission.

The Doctor Tells It.

According to this doctor, who had listened with stethescope and tapped with hammer, the champion's indisposition may turn out to be by no means as trivial as the official report indicated. The illness was diagnosed as pharyngitis, or just plain frog-in-the-throat at the corner drug store, but it can and might move down into the chest overnight. And if it does, says he, Carnera is licked.

That, anyhow, was the man's story or at least, part of it, the rest being that, if the ailment settles in the chest, the victim will have great difficulty in breathing and that, if he happened to be hit on the chest in that condition, he probably wouldn't survive the blow. As an afterthought he added that Carnera has been taking treatments three times a week for sinus trouble.

So this apparently greatest of the heavyweight fights since Dempsey and Tunney, but certainly the most preposterous of them all, proceeded upon its preposterous way today, a prey to vague uncertainty, doubt, indecision and downright alarm. A week ago, Baer was declared unfit to fight by Commissioner Bill Brown. Today, he's apparently in better physical condition than Carnera and, frankly, everybody is beginning to wonder what it's all about.

Declines Name The Winner.

I don't know how good or bad either of them is. But I do know that it has taken both several months of earnest endeavor to get that way, and in the circumstances and while there was a very definite opinion reposing within the bosom a week ago, it seems the part of bad horse sense to hazard a guess about the winner. As a matter of fact, based upon what I now do not know about this one, I couldn't even hazard a guess about the loser.

The latter may turn out to be the referee, otherwise known as the man in the middle. He'll be very much in the middle tomorrow night, for this pair is going to do everything but kick each other and the referee won't dare call the shots; that is, to the extent of stopping the fight.

With anywhere from fifty to sixty thousand maniacs back there in the darkness, the only way a fight like this can stop is with the count of ten. Otherwise, they would come right down to the ringside and tear the property out by the foundations.

John Dempsey Present.

Dempsey knew that and conducted himself accordingly. It's probably only a coincidence, my mentioning this, but he'll be in Baer's corner tomorrow night. In Carnera's corner will be Louis Soresi, who used to be a rate clerk or receiving teller or something in a bank; anyhow, I'm pretty sure he wasn't a chief-second.

But he has announced himself as same for tomorrow night, Carnera's regular chief-second, a Mr. Duffy, having been unfortunately detained out of town.

In view of all this, it is not surprising that Carnera is now a receeding favorite in Jack Doyle's book at odds of 13 to 20, with Baer still being held at 6 to 5. Further than that, one may have odds of 2 to 1 that Baer does not score a knockout and 2½ to 1 that Carnera doesn't. But if you think this is one to bet on, I'd really recommend something conservative like good, old-fashioned oil stock.

Amateur BASEBALL

POWER BLANKS FURNITUREMEN.

With Ernie Krenk pitching three-hit ball Iowa-Nebraska Power, defending champions, moved into third place in the City league Tuesday evening by blanking Woods Furniture, 8-0 at Muny Field. Lloyd Neitzel's pair of hits in as many tries led the stickers. Two new players, Lancy and Kubat, made their initial City league appearance, holding down the left-hand berths of the infield for Woods.

Wendelin Bakers, in the runner-up spot at present, take on the in-and-out Hardy Furnitures in Wednesday's game at Muny Field at 6:15. Meyers is expected to shoot for Hardy's, while either John Wondra or Cannonball Sieck will be on the mound for the Bakers. Score:

LINKS PLASTER BEATRICE GANG

With Potter Delivering Superbly, Pug's Boys Blank Blues.

BEATRICE, Neb., June 13—Pitcher Potter and the Links got back at Beatrice with a vengeance last night, as Lincoln beat the Blues, 14-0, to even the series. Potter held Beatrice to four scattered hits, while his teammates pounded Pociask for 16 blows, including home runs by Griffin, Langkop, Phillips and Lobaugh.

Sioux Falls picked up some lost ground by winning a 5-4 game from Norfolk. The Canaries chased in two runs in the eighth to win the game. Scores:

MAX MAPS OUT PLAN OF BATTLE

Baer Has Quiet Pow-wow With Wizard Second From Far West.

BY HYPE IGOE.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 13—(INS)—Max Baer, the coolest challenger for the heavyweight championship of the world I ever knew, rose a little before 6 o'clock this morning and went meandering over a five-mile stretch of back road for his final jog.

It wasn't even that, because hard road pounding is behind him, just as the boxing and stomach pounding is. He left the tremendous Sims mansion at a quarter to seven with the snow-topped, but young, Dolph Thomas, master second, the "Spider" Kelly of the day in California, as his companion.

They wanted that walk of five miles all to themselves, and nobody in camp dared hint that he wanted to mope along with them. The "Battle of the Bowl" was fought on that back road this morning before any of the seashore citizens had tumbled out of bed.

As they walked this morning, they talked of the plan of battle. Thomas has made a minute study of every moving picture taken of Carnera in action. He saw him fight in California. He is positive that he knows the best way, the shortest way to victory, over the gigantic Italian.

They figured out just such punches as big Carnera is likely to throw from the start. Baer is a stubborn student—if he can be called such at this late day.

It would have been interesting reading to have caught some of that secret sermon on the road. Baer will heed this sharp-eyed fellow from the Golden Gate. He is one man who can make Max settle into a winning stride. He can even make him cut out the tittering when a million dollar chance is before his blazing black eyes.

Carnera will be fighting Dolph Thomas as well as Baer tomorrow and it's the devil's own combination to beat. Carnera would have given half of his coming purse to have had bird or squirrel privileges along that road today.

Brass Tacks by Cy Sherman

BILL CORUM has the right name for it—the "It" I have in mind being the Baer-Carnera brawl that is on the fistic bill for Thursday night in the Garden's Long Island bowl. "The Battle of Befuddlement" is Bill's special appellation and it fills the bill very neatly, for the whole mess, with all its blah blah and contradictory reports, is well calculated to confuse.

First it was Baer, who, according to John Dempsey, needed an extra period of training. Then the New York fight commish stepped in to order a special physical examination of the fighters. As might have been expected, both Maxie and Da Preem convinced the examiners they were at the peak of fighting form.

Then Carnera took his turn. The Italian giant had a sloppy sort of session with his sparring pals, which was twisted into a yarn that the champion had gone stale.

Next on the befuddlement program was a statement from the Carnera camp that its hero was in bed with the flu, after which the commissioners summoned both principals to New York for a second physical exam which disclosed that Maxie still was "in the pink," while Primo was recovering from a slight attack of sore throat, but, so the medicos asseverated, would be fit as the proverbial fiddle by gong-time Thursday night.

JUST to make sure that the fighters were not permitted to monopolize the publicity, the Garden folks broke into print with a calamity story, Col. Kilpatrick being quoted to the effect that the talk about Max and Da Preem being slightly off color had hurt the sale of pasteboards "not less than a hundred grand."

Of course, it did nothing of the sort. The fighters, their managers and the Garden directorate undoubtedly were in a cunning conspiracy to work up interest in the Thursday brawl. The chatter going on for the past few days was played up under flaring headlines in every New York newspaper and John Public, even though befuddled and confused, unquestionably is eager more than ever to form on the right and plank down his coin.

Success of the Thursday enterprise was somewhat in doubt until Johny Dempsey appeared on the scene—and right then things began to hum. John, the historians have it, was brought up in the Tex Rickard-Jack Kearns school of ballyhoo. What this pair didn't know of the art of exciting the public wasn't in the book.

As for the Thursday affair, it would be expecting too much to be predicting one of those "million dollar gates," but the four to five hundred thousand that will be dropped in the box office isn't to be sneezed at in a time such as the present.

MENTION of Dempsey leads up to an interesting discovery made by Clyde McBride of the Kansas City Star, who is sojourning just now in the east. Clyde, it seems, recently ran onto Jimmy Bronson, former Kaysee denizen, in New York.

It is the same Bronson who was chief second to Gene Tunney in the two fights the Greenwich Village gent had with Dempsey. Bronson has a reputation in fist circles as a "square shooter." Whatever he says may be entered in the record as an irrefutable fact.

Anyway, Bronson spilled to the Kaysee scribe the straight dope concerning that "Long Count" affair between Gene and Jack in Chicago. Bronson's statement is enlightening, in that it serves to shatter the commonly accepted version that Dempsey actually knocked out Tunney and was handed a raw deal by Referee Barry.

ACCORDING to Bronson's story to McBride, Referee Barry, before the beginning of hostilities called both battlers to the center of the ring and explained the Illinois boxing rule which specified that if either fighter scored a knockdown, he must immediately retire to his corner, the penalty being that the referee would not start his count of "ten."

After Dempsey's knockdown of Tunney in the seventh round, the old mauler failed to retire to his corner, so Barry waited until Dempsey had compiled with the rule and then began his count.

Meantime, said Bronson, Tunney, with one hand on the lower ring rope, glanced at his seconds. Bronson's reply was to so wave his hand as to signify that Gene was to stay down and take full advantage of the referee's count. When Barry tolled off "nine," Tunney leaped to his feet.

TUNNEY devoted the remainder of the round to avoiding Dempsey's rushes and when Gene returned to his corner for the intermission, Bronson was somewhat fearful that Tunney might be a trifle groggy. That was Bronson's cue to put Gene to a test.

"How do you feel?" Bronson asked.

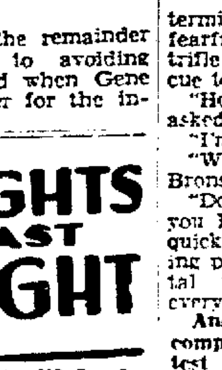

"I'm all right," Gene replied.

"What night is this Gene," was Bronson's next query.

"Don't be ridiculous, Jimmy, I tell you I'm all right," was Tunney's quick rejoinder—the most convincing proof possible that Gene's mental machinery was clicking on every cylinder.

And Gene proved it even more completely by unleashing his hottest attack of the battle in the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds. In fact, Jack, says Bronson, took a heavy plastering during the three final stanzas, Gene doing his job so thoroughly that the decision in his favor was above and beyond every suggestion of doubt or quibble. That's the Bronson version and frankly, it has the ring of truth.

LEVINSKY EASY MARK FOR LASKY

Kingfish Slapped Around and Soundly Thrashed In Coast Bout.

By WALLACE X. RAWLES.

LOS ANGELES, June 13—(INS)—"I was robbed."

Thus King Levinsky, Chicago heavyweight, moaned today after Art Lasky, the Minneapolis mauler who has become a native son of California, won a decision in 10 rounds of furious fighting before 11,000 fans, including numerous movieland celebrities last night.

The fight was billed as "for the kosher championship of the world." At the bell, both men snarled from their corners and traded wallops. Lasky landed solidly to the stomach—and Levinsky faded gradually but inevitably farther and farther away from a decision as the bout progressed. The first blow made Levinsky sick.

Lasky, who was to board an airplane today for New York to personally challenge the winner of the Max Baer-Primo Carnera title fight, paid strict attention to business—the business of giving Mr. Levinsky a thorough beating up.

Lupe Gets His Goat.

Levinsky spent considerable of his time "fighting" with Lupe Velez and her he-man husband, John Weissmuller, who in ringside seats were cheering lustily for Lasky and giving Levinsky "the bird." Aiding in the Kingfish's discomfiture were Adrienne Ames and her new husband, Bruce Cabot, also of movieland.

Ringsiders gave Lasky seven rounds and Levinsky two, with one even. Levinsky was the only one present who thought he had been robbed.

More money was wagered here on the outcome of the Lasky-Levinsky bout than has been placed on the Carnera-Baer fight, betting commissioners said. Levinsky was a pre-bout favorite at 10 to 9.

Process-servers Active.

Levinsky frequently rallied, but most of his lethal haymakers passed harmlessly over Lasky's head. Lasky's rights bothered and damaged Levinsky.

Olympic club officials said they had to guard Levinsky yesterday afternoon to keep him from "running out" again. He got as far as Chicago in May, when his battle with Lasky was scheduled originally. Last night, Levinsky's share was about $5,000—if he gets it, meaning that an army of process-servers swooped down on the box office and attached Levinky's slice of the melon.

Slim Pickings for Kingfish.

LOS ANGELES, June 13—(AP)—In addition to a bruised body, Levinsky had a badly battered pocketbook today, for there was little left of the fish-monger's $4,976 share of the $16,589 net gate when process-servers had finished with him. After private detectives stopped the Levinsky automobile on the outskirts of the city, the Kingfish was brought back to the Olympic office, where $3,500 was counted out in a bag to satisfy his sister's demands and subsequently impounded by the sheriff.

Federal officers attached on the basis of a $1,386 claim against Mrs. Levy over income tax difficulties. The Lakeside Fish & Oyster Co. of Chicago served papers to satisfy demands for $500. Lou Daro, the promoter, wants $1,800—$975 in money advanced Levinsky before the fight and the remainder for financial losses resulting from the month's delay caused by the Kingfish's leave-taking without notification three days before the bout was previously scheduled to take place.

Hahn Kept Secret News of Marriage

FALLS CITY, Neb., June 13—Wedding bells rang seven months ago for Lloyd Hahn of Falls City, once America's premier middle distance runner, it was revealed here Tuesday.

The "Nebraska comet" and his bride, Miss Dollie Langdon of Lincoln, Neb., had kept the wedding secret to allow her to hold her position as girls' physical education instructor here. The couple was married secretly at Iola, Kas., Nov. 4, 1933.

Miss Langdon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Langdon of Lincoln, while Hahn is the son of Dr. H. T. Hahn, Falls City. Hahn is the grandson of George Fisher of Falls City, who on two occasions has aroused nationwide interest by distributing his property among relatives by lottery. Hahn shared in the distribution.

Hahn was at his prime in 1928 when he defeated Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany and Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C. in the "mile of the century." A controversy arose over sending Hahn to the Olympics early to prepare him to meet some of the world's greatest milers. The Olympics committee refused and Hahn was defeated. Soon afterward, he announced he would hang up his spikes forever.

Dean Brothers Busy Making Good On Boast Lead League Pitchers

BY PAT ROBINSON.

NEW YORK, June 13—(INS)—A boaster naturally puts himself forever on the spot. Braggarts who can make good on their boasts are few and far between in any line, but more especially in sports. Probably no athletes ever put themselves on the spot as have the Deans, the famous "Me and I" brothers of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Well, Here's the Record.

When the season opened, these bashful boys calmly predicted they would win 45 games between them this year. That boast immediately stirred up every team in the league. Every pitcher determined to bear down particularly hard whenever he faced one of the Deans.

Forty-five between them, eh? Why, twice that many would win the flag for the Cards. Where did that Dizzy pair get off to think they could show up the rest of the league?

Well, as Al Smith used to say, let's take a look at the record. The Cardinals have won 30 games and of this number the Dizzy Deans have accounted for exactly half between them.

Paul, the younger and less talkative of the pair, won his seventh straight yesterday when he took the Braves over, 7 to 3, aided and abetted no little by home runs from the clubs of Jim Collins and Pepper Martin. Paul is still undefeated.

The Cardinals have lost 18 games, but only two of these are charged against the name Dean. Jerome lost those, but he has won eight.

If the Brothers Dean maintain their present pace, they will win more than the 45 games they promised to win.

Giants Slaughter Reds.

Despite Paul's victory, the Cards picked up no ground on the Giants, who were slaughtering the downtrodden Reds, 12 to 1. The Giants blew themselves to 19 hits against a quartet of alleged pitchers, while the Reds could get but eight blows off Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons. Freddy himself made half as many hits as he allowed the Rhinelanders.

The Dodgers also staged a free-for-all with the Pirates and Casey Stengel's wild outfit won it 9 to 7. The Dodgers garnered 15 hits to 14 for the Pirates.

Another homer by Chuck Klein was the pay-off in the Philly-Cub game, which the Chicago entry won, 6 to 5. The Phils scored all their runs in the third, when they chased Weaver to the showers, but the Cubs came right back and put the damper on Darrow with four runs and added their last two in the fourth.

Detroit and Boston were the only teams able to play in the American league, Bridges, outpitching Rhodes and Pennock to trim the Red Sox, 4 to 2. Both teams scored all their runs in the sixth.

The Yanks were leading the Browns, 3 to 1, when rain saved the latter, and the A's and Indians and White Sox and Senators never got started.

Amateur GOLF

MRS. OLE CLARK A THREAT.

A new threat to Mrs. C. R. Bangh's reign as champion of Nebraska women golfers came to the front Tuesday when Mrs. Ole Clark, wife of the Shrine club pro posted an 88 for an 18-hole round of the Lincoln Shrine course, scene of the 1934 tourney which opens next Monday.

Mrs. Clark had the low score of the Shrine open day field. Mrs. C. R. Bangh, Omaha Field, had the low gross for out-of-town players with a 92, while Mrs. Margaret Anderson with a 90 and Mrs. Carl Rohman with a 91, were other Lincoln women under the figures turned in by the state champion.

Mrs. Wallace Herrick, Shrine, had the low net with a 77 and Mrs. M. B. Brown, Happy Hollow, with 62 had the low net for out-of-town players.

Mrs. O. V. McCracken and Mrs. E. Cline won the putting contests and Mrs. K. L. McClernon and Mrs. G. R. Westphal won driving contests. Mrs. Frank Suttle had the low net on the second nine.

BENNER WINS AT ANTELOPE.

George Benner continued his fast pace Tuesday afternoon at Antelope club as he won the spring tourney by defeating Jay Luse, 10 and 9. Benner was 6 up at the close of the Sunday 18 holes.

REITZ WINS AT BROKEN BOW.

BROKEN BOW—Frank Reitz of Gothenburg won the Broken Bow open golf tourney here Sunday.

DAY OF REST AT CARNERA CAMP

Italian Giant Goes Easy, But Declares Himself In Fine Fettle.

BY BILL CORUM.

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., June 13—(INS)—His sore throat rapidly clearing up, Heavyweight Champion Primo Carnera proposed to take it easy today, saying he was:

"Feet as a feedle."

He turned in about 10 o'clock last night, after visiting a movie in Pompton Lakes featuring Clark Gable. The fact that Gable looks somewhat like Dempsey and Baer didn't bother Primo any, he said.

Before he went to bed, he left us with a bedtime story for the kiddies. It is eat a lot of spinach if you want to be fit.

This dainty dish, which makes some kiddies turn up their tiny noses, is the main vegetable at the giant Carnera's dinner.

During the walk, the champion jogs a little and limbers up by swinging his club-like arms at imaginary foes, sometimes getting too close for comfort to Defoe or Saverino. But it's fun to Primo, who of late seems to get a great kick out of accompanying his walk with a few swings, much in the manner of Jack Dempsey.

Not another bite of food will enter the gigantic stomach of the champion until 5:30 tonight, when he'll say:

What! No Spaghetti?

"I'll have spinach and some other vegetable, couple of lamb chops, a little salad and a glass of Italian table wine. Then a pear or an apple and that's all."

"What! No spaghetti?"

"No, it's too heavy. When I train I don't eat it. But after the fight, I'll eat some," he said. "Most of the time I eat only two meals a day, even when I don't train."

No boxing or work of any kind will be indulged in by the champion today. He had a spirited workout yesterday and went four fast rounds with two sparring partners who did no damage at all to the giant.

Not a blow reached his face or stomach. The champion danced around like a lightweight and showed no signs of having been slowed up by the slight cold that kept him confined to his quarters Monday.

Softball Leaguers.

GEIR HURLS NO-HIT GAME.

Withe George Geier chucking a no-hit, no-run game, Duffies scored a 7-0 victory over Luchsingers in the top attraction of the City softball league program Tuesday evening. Geier walked two and fanned 13 for the evening's work. City Club handed Bankers Life the second consecutive defeat 5-4, with a two-run splurge in the seventh to break a 4-4 deadlock. Flanigan held Sell's to five hits as Deckers won, 5-4, while Nebraska Cycle made the most of four hits to win a 3-2 decision from Arcade. Lincoln Cycle won from Lawlors, 6-3, and Havelock trounced Bethany by the same count. Hartnock's home run with the bases choked in the eighth gave Liberty Life a 10-6 overtime victory over Star Van.

Kansan Goes East To Race Bonthron

LAWRENCE, Kas., June 13—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham, star miler of the University of Kansas, was on his way today to Princeton, N. J., where he will renew his rivalry Saturday with Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania and William Bonthron of Princeton. He was accompanied by Coach H. W. Hargiss, who predicted the winner of the mile race will break the present world mark of 4 minutes, 7.6 seconds. Cunningham was non-committal, however.

"A fellow can't think of a record," he said, "until he beats the opposition."

Stocks Somewhat Unsettled In Late Trading Wednesday Following Grain Market Decline

Exchange Has Irregular Close

Profit Taking Fairly Well Absorbed; Sales About 850,000 Shares.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—Stocks were somewhat unsettled in the late dealings today following a relapse in the grain market. Early gains of fractions to a point were pared or replaced by moderate losses. Profit taking was fairly well absorbed, however, and trading was rather dull. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 850,000 shares.

Wheat dropped 3 or more cents a bushel under realizing based on the expansion of harvest operations in the southwest. Other cereals, while not quite so heavy were sympathetically lower. Cotton pointed downward after morning improvement. Hogs at Chicago recorded their third day's successive advance. Silver and rubber futures were higher. Bonds were generally better, although the Germans displayed further weakness. The dollar was up in foreign exchange dealings. Sterling was subjected to pressure.

Wall street, as a whole, continued to look for higher prices, although commentators warned that technical reactions could be expected on the upward climb. There was little decisive news which might have interested followers of equities. The German financial situation was still a matter of some concern in banking quarters.

Shares of Johns-Manville, American Beet Sugar preferred and Great Western Sugar held gains of around a point or so. Most of the utilities including Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, North American and Columbia Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, North American and Columbia Gas were steady to firm. American Telephone moved up more than a point. U. S. Steel was resistant as was Du Pont. Loser of fractions to about a point included Case, General Motors, American Can, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Schenley Auburn and Goodyear. The metals and oils finished in a narrow range, as did the rails.

A senate recommendation for the appropriation of $35,000 for a special investigation of munitions manufacturing profits did not seem to have any particular effect on stocks of this group. Some of the building issues reflected hopes of expanded business when the housing bill is passed.

A meeting of the directors of the American Iron & Steel Institute was taken as an indication that the strike problem may be near a solution. The convention of the unions at Pittsburgh tomorrow is expected to decide whether the general walk-out in the industry will take place Saturday.

Expectations that congress will adjourn next week, at the latest, tended to brighten the equity horizon. Many stock operators as well as the public, it was pointed out in brokerage circles, have been hesitant to take any decided position in the market while uncertainties continued as to the brand of legislation which would be turned out at Washington.

For the first time in some weeks Dun & Bradstreet reported an increase in business failures. The total for the week ended June 7, was 239 compared with 216 in the five-day week preceding. Retail defaults rose to 145 against 124 a week earlier. There were two less failures, however, in the manufacturing division.

With the financial district taking a more hopeful view of the labor situation, activities in the major industries were being studied closely for further signs of seasonal trends.

Interest was expressed in the summary of "Iron Age" which estimated current raw steel output at 61 per cent of capacity against 60 per cent in the previous week. The present rate has been reached only once before this year.

The review found that expanded operations were due partly to efforts to meet the delivery deadline on second quarter contracts and to forestall possible strike interruptions. It was stated that "although the preponderant view in the trade is that the strike threat has been a minor factor in stimulating mill activity, gains in output have been mainly in sections where organized labor has been most vocal."

Trade analysts reported that the recent moderate improvement in retail trade apparently was being maintained although some merchants were said to be concerned over the future outlook because of the revival of price cutting in some lines which will entail inventory losses. With the endangering of profits, it was feared that code wages and hour scales may also be adversely affected.

The electric output of the country for the week ended June 9, showed a gain over the corresponding period of last year of 7.3 per cent against an increase of 7.8 in the previous week. The slight drop in the percentage gain was about seasonal. The total production in the latest week of 1,654,916,000 kilowatt hours compared with an aggregate for the week ended June 2, of 1,575,828,000.

In opening dealings the British pound was off 1¼ cents at $5.04 and the French franc showed a decline of .00¾ of a cent at 6.60¼ cents.

Wheat Declines In Late Trading

Close Is Heavy, 2⅞-3⅜c Lower; Corn Finishes ¼-⅝c Off.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 13—(AP)—Expansion of wheat harvest operations in the southwest together with big profit taking sales in the corn market led to sharp reactions late today from early upturns of prices.

With stop-loss selling precipitated in wheat, that grain fell to far below yesterday's close, and new advances in corn were more than wiped out at times. Threshing returns from Kansas showed wheat yields ranging from one bushel to three bushels an acre up to as high as 35 bushels, with new wheat received at Wichita grading mainly No. 1.

Wheat closed heavy at the day's low point, 2⅞@3⅜c under yesterday's finish, July, 96@96⅛c, Sept. 96⅝@⅞c; corn, ¼@⅝c down, July, 57½@⅝c; Sep. 59½@⅝c; Oats, ⅜@⅝c off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Material new upturns of grain values took place early today, with corn in the lead. Indications that the commodity bill would not be adopted at this session of congress was a stimulating factor, and it was emphasized that regardless of the size of the 1934 corn crop every bushel of corn would be needed to make up deficiency of other forage. Opening ⅜ to ⅞ cent higher July 99⅞c@$1.00, wheat afterward gained further. Corn started ¾ to 1⅛ cents up, and subsequently made an additional advance.

Corn quickly established a fresh high price record for the season, December delivery reaching a top of 63⅝ cents, an overnight jump of nearly 2 cents a bushel. Continued notice of prospective heavy damage to the corn crop of Illinois and other large corn producing states furnished incentive to buyers. Pit observers said it was evident trade interest in corn was on the increase. That unusual menace from chinch bugs was just getting under way, and that major losses suffered by other grains added to the market effect of any deterioration which might take place in corn.

Dealings were mostly in small lots with professional traders inclined to favor the purchase side, and with the market borrowing strength from corn. Some selling at above $1.00 for July wheat was regarded as due more or less to hedging pressure from the harvest region southwest. Both in wheat and corn, however, profit taking sales expanded on price advances and were chiefly responsible for setbacks of about a cent a bushel at times. For the time being, though, no grain quotations fell even temporarily below yesterday's finish. Oats duplicated action of other cereals.

Provisions advanced, responsive to upturns of hog values and grains.

Wheat futures purchases yesterday totaled 24,350,000 bushels, corn 20,204,000. Open interest in wheat was 101,490,000 bushels, and in corn 61,220,000.

About mid-session, wheat was ½ to ¾ cent higher, compared with yesterday's finish, and corn was ⅞ to 1⅛ cents up.

Corn receipts in Chicago today were 34 cars, a week ago 45, and a year ago 13.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—Specialties, utilities and metals led the curb market in a moderate upturn today. While trading generally remained below the average levels, there was a fair turnover in utilities and metals.

American Gas, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Swift Internacional, and Singer Mfg. gained more than a point each, and such specialties as Quaker Oats and Universal Insurance were bid up more than 12. Pennsylvan Gas & Electric "A" gained nearly 3 and others of the utility group, including Electric Bond & Share and Niagara Hudson Power advanced small fractions.

Bunker Hill & Sullivan, and Lake Shore Mines were higher as were such issues as Hiram Walker, Swift & Co., Sherwin Williams Penn Road, Distillers Corp.-Seagrams and Pioneer Gold.

Oil stocks, which had a moderate run up in the previous session, were slightly irregular. Creole and International Petroleum each gained small fractions, while Standard Oil of Indiana was slightly lower and others in the group remained unchanged.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—The bond market made a little further progress on the up side in the forenoon trading today in spite of the handicap of a highly restricted trading interest. Over the domestic list, including U S. governments, small gains were in the majority.

A modest demand appeared for secondary loans in consequence of sustained improvement in stock values. This centered on issues like Milwaukee 5s, Erie 5s, Nickel Plate 4½s Postal Telegraph 5s, International Telephone 5s and Alleghany Corp. 5s of 1950.

Higher priced corporate issues in the plus column in a small way were American Smelting & Refining 5s, Santa Fe 4s, Detroit Edison 4½s, Duquesne Light 4½s and Western Union 5s.

In light trading Treasury loans were generally a shade higher with the 3s of 1951 showing the best gain as well as the most active volume. Federal Farm Mortgage 3¼s and Home Owners Loan 4¼s of 1951 were slightly lower along with Liberty 1st 4¼s.

There were more declines than advances in the foreign group during the early trading and German government issues again felt the greatest pressure.

The Dawes and Young plan bonds lost enough ground to put them at new lows for the year after a steady downward slide over the past few weeks. The 7s or Dawes issue lost considerably more than a point, although early selling was less active than yesterday. French 7½s receded a point and Canada 4s yielded a fraction. Uruguay 6s were moderately higher.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, June 13—(AP)—Indications that the chinch bug menace was spreading in the corn belt stimulated activity in the corn market as prices pushed upward yesterday. Many longs in wheat and oats were said to have liquidated their holdings and to have turned their attention to corn. From southeastern Iowa, central Illinois and western Indiana reports were received that the bugs were moving into corn fields after an attack on wheat and oats. A survey of conditions by Illinois officials last winter disclosed that as many as 5,000 chinch bugs were found on a square foot of soil. A recent report showed that only seven northern Illinois counties and some in the extreme southern part of the state had not yet been invaded by the insects.

The infestation of corn fields by the bugs has been hastened says H. C. Donovan, veteran Chicago crop observer, by a deficiency of undergrowth in the drouth areas. Wheat and oats fields were destroyed quickly because the bugs didn't have any grass or weeds on which to feed, he explained. The early invasion of corn consequently makes the chances of crop damage greater.

Soy bean prices were lower on reports that the government had purchased a large supply of the beans from mills for distribution to farmers. The demand for the bean has been heavy because of their use for planting emergency feed crops to replace grain and pasture destroyed by the drouth. They were 20 cents a bushel lower at Chicago.

Chicago Produce.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 13—(AP)—The butter and egg markets were unsettled today. Poultry ruled steady.

Storage holdings of butter and eggs in the United States on June 1 showed shortages. Holdings of butter June 1, 1933, were 35,159,000 pounds, compared with 27,110,000 pounds this year; eggs, June 1, 1933, were 8,062,000 cases compared with 7,815,000 cases this year. Yesterday the four principal markets had on hand 15,224,312 pounds of butter as compared with 26,965,480 last year.

Many traders here had expected a much greater storage of eggs some private estimates holding that storings would be close to 500,000 cases under the 1933 figure instead of only 247,000. Some attributed this over estimate as indicative of a failure to take into account the fact that dealers are better able this year to finance eggs at home. Evidence of this was found in a report that the state of Kansas had stored fully 100,000 cases more during April, and it is generally believed this state accounted for much of the storing in May not disclosed in daily and weekly reports.

KANSAS CITY, June 13—(AP)—HAY—Receipts, 118 cars; unchanged.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—COTTON—Early advances in cotton today on foreign and commission house buying were followed by reactions under liquidation and profit taking. The forecast for showers in drouthy sections of the west and for clear weather in the east where too much rain has been reported brought out some of the selling. October which had advanced to a new high for the current movement to 12.45 carrying the market up to $4.00 per bale since the first of the month, sold off to 12.32 and the general market at the beginning of the last hour was about 3 to 6 points net lower.

The market rallied later in the day on scovering and trade buying and closed steady, unchanged to 1 point higher; July 12.12@13.14; October, 12.36@12 37; December 12.47; January, 12.54; March, 12.65; May 12.74.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—SUGAR—The signing of the reciprocal tariff bill by President Roosevelt and expectations of early enactment of a new trade agreement with Cuba and a further decline in the Cuban preferential duty as a result, together with a firm spot market, carried sugar futures higher today. Prices made a new high ground for the movement, with the May position selling at the highest levels in over four years on increased covering and speculative buying and although there was considerable realizing or liquidation on the upturn advances were well maintained. July contracts sold up from 1.57 to 1.60 and March from 1.81 to 1.82 or 2 to 3 points above the previous close with the market at midday ruling at or within a point of the best.

Futures closed firm, 1 to 3 higher; sales, 35,500 tons; July, 1.60@1.61; September, 1.66@1.67; December, 1.76; January, 1.77 bid; March 1.83 bid; May, 1.88 bid.

WOMAN HURT AS CAR TURNS OVER

Eleanor Davenport Found Unconscious on Pavement On West P.

Mrs. Eleanor Davenport, 20, was injured early Wednesday morning when her car turned over on West P street near Lakeview. The accident occurred at 4:45 a. m., when, according to police, a tire apparently blew out and she lost control of the car. As the car left the road, Mrs. Davenport was thrown onto the pavement and the machine crashed across the ditch on the south side of the highway, knocking over a tree in its path. The car was badly wrecked.

Mrs. Davenport, who was alone, was taken to St Elizabeth's hospital by ambulance after occupants of a passing car found her lying unconscious on the pavement. She suffered severe abrasions on her back and arms, but was reported Wednesday morning as not seriously injured. An x-ray examination for possible fractures was to be made Wednesday.

Mrs. Davenport lives with her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Babcock, on Route 6.

DENY NICK HAU WAS KIDNAPED

Defense Witnesses Testify In Trial Of Gilbert Burks.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., June 13—(AP)—The case against Gilbert Burks of Weeping Water, charged with kidnaping Nick Hau, 50, and taking him to Omaha in April, went to the jury today after final arguments had been completed. In his closing address, County Attorney Kieck asserted Hau had been the victim of "a badger game." C. S. Wortman, defense attorney, attacked Hau's version of the case, calling it contradictory.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., June 13—(AP)—Defense testimony in the trial of Gilbert Burks of Weeping Water a trucker, on charges of kidnaping Nick Hau, 59, was completed in District court here late Tuesday. Mrs. Helen Craig, foster sister of Burks, and Napoleon Posten, who face the same charge as Burks, testified for the defense. Both said that Hau was attacking Mrs. Craig when Burks and Posten entered her home at Weeping Water.

Posten asserted that Hau pleaded with them not to call the sheriff. He and Burks, the witness continued, started to Plattsmouth with Hau to turn the latter over to officers, but decided to return for a conference with Mrs. Craig. Hau, he added, offered to "give you anything."

Mrs. Craig, said Posten, only asked that Hau pay a $75 board and room bill owed her. Then, said Posten, it was decided to stay all night at the Craig home and drive to Omaha in the morning, where Hau would give them access to his safety deposit box in an Omaha bank.

Upon reaching Omaha, he continued, Hau suddenly called police and declared he had been kidnaped. Posten asserted that at no time had Hau been held a prisoner.

It was expected the case would go to the jury Wednesday.

ASK DISCHARGE CASE WORKERS

Unemployed Group Presents Other Demands to Relief Director.

A committee of five, purporting to represent Lincoln unemployed, Wednesday morning asked Miss Grace Bradshaw, Lancaster county federal relief director, to answer several demands for increased relief and to remove two case workers because of alleged arrogance.

Miss Bradshaw told the committee she has nothing to do with the relief appropriation allotted to this county from Washington and suggested that such requests be placed before Rowland Haynes, federal relief administration for this state. She said charges against case workers would have to be put in writing before she would consider the matter.

The committee, headed by D. Robert Burleigh, insisted that Miss Bradshaw get in touch with Washington authorities and urge larger relief funds for this county. Miss Bradshaw refused because, she said, she has no authority to tell Washington what to do. She agreed, however, to communicate statements made in the conference to Mr. Haynes and other relief authorities.

Demands presented by the committee included the "8 point" plan applying to FERA work, and an increased relief schedule for relief recipients not on the FERA. The latter schedule asks $4.80 per week for single men, $9.60 per week for married men with families up to four with $2 additional for extra dependents.

While the committee conferred with Miss Bradshaw, a crowd of some 200 persons stood in front of the headquarters building, listening to speeches and testimonials from different members of their group. Although several police cars were ordered to the vicinity, there was no sign of trouble.

After the conference, Burleigh reported the results of the interview to the outside gathering and the meeting adjourned. Burleigh said the committee would present written charges against the two relief workers.

17 MISSING AS FREIGHTER SINKS

Seventeen Others Saved When Fire Destroys Ship in Caribbean.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—The destruction by fire of a nitrate laden freighter, so suddenly that her crew was forced to take to lifeboats without calling for help by wireless, was reported today in radio messages received here.

Seventeen members of the crew were missing; the captain and 16 of his crew were rescued after drifting in a lifeboat for nearly three days.

LOST JAPANESE OFFICIAL FOUND

Envoy Who Nearly Caused Serious Trouble Planned to Kill Self

NANKING, China, June 13—(AP)—The strange case of Eimei Kuramoto, the Japanese vice consul who disappeared last Friday, was cleared up today in time to avert threatened difficulties between China and Japan.

Kuramoto was found sitting in a graveyard beside an ancient tomb of the Ming dynasty.

He was unkempt, hungry and uninterested in the fact that soldiers and warships had been called out by two nations because he had strayed.

Planned to Kill Self.

He told Chinese authorities he had gone into the cemetery to commit suicide because he had failed to achieve promotion in the Japanese consular service.

Japan had informed the Chinese government officially that it would hold that government responsible for the safety of the vice consul.

Japan backed up its note with warships which it rushed to Hanking.

He was turned over to Japanese authorities who refused to comment on the case.

ELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT INCREASES

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—Electric power output last week totaled 1,654,916,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,575,828,000 kilowatt hours the previous week, the Edison Electric institute reported today.

The increase over a year ago was 7.3 per cent, compared with a rise of 7.8 per cent the week before.

TRUSTEES APPOINTED.

NEW YORK, June 13—(AP)—Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe today appointed Edward P. Farley and Morton L. Fearey trustees for the Munson steamship line. The line, taking advantage of the new federal bankruptcy act, last Monday petitioned for time in which to effect a reorganization for the protection of creditors and stockholders.

Deaths

LAFFERTY, MRS NANCY JANE—Died at her home at 940 Garfield street Tuesday morning. She was 83 years old and had lived in Lincoln for 30 years. Her late husband, Lucien H. Lafferty died in December 1933. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs Josie Stromer, St John's, Kas., and Mrs Maude Ellen White, Lincoln and one son William Lafferty, Lincoln. Nine grandchildren also survive. Funeral services will be held at Castle, Roper and Matthews chapel at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Rev Ray E Hunt officiating. Interment will be at Yankee Hill.

Ohio Attacker Of Women Hits Again

DEFIANCE, O., Jue 13—(AP)—An apparently crazed man who in two weeks has attacked five women with pistol and knife was still at large today.

His latest victim, Rosemary Mansfield, 16, daughter of Attorney Victor L. Mansfield, was recovering from a knife wound in the back, inflicted yesterday without warning as she and her sister, Kathryn Mansfield, 15, and Julia Rex, 16, were walking along a residential street.

The girls said the man crept up behind them, struck Rosemary in the back and fled.

The attack was similar to those made on four other women.

Late last week police picked up a narcotic addict they suspected of being the attacker. He was held to the grand jury on a charge of breaking and entering, but the attack yesterday on Miss Mansfield gave evidence that the attacker still is at large.

Kansas Wheat Yield Will Be Larger Than 1933 Despite Drouth

WICHITA, Kas., June 13—(AP)—Binders are singing a $75,000,000 tune in the heart of America's winter wheat belt.

Despite the drouth, it is a merrier tune than was heard last year. Kansas farmers are in the midst of the harvest of a wheat crop estimated to yield 80,000,000 bushels, approximately 23,000,000 more than was produced last year.

This year's yield also will bring almost twice as much a bushel as last year.

In addition, the Kansas wheat grower has had several million dollars poured into his pockets by Uncle Sam for reducing his acreage, and more is to be received later.

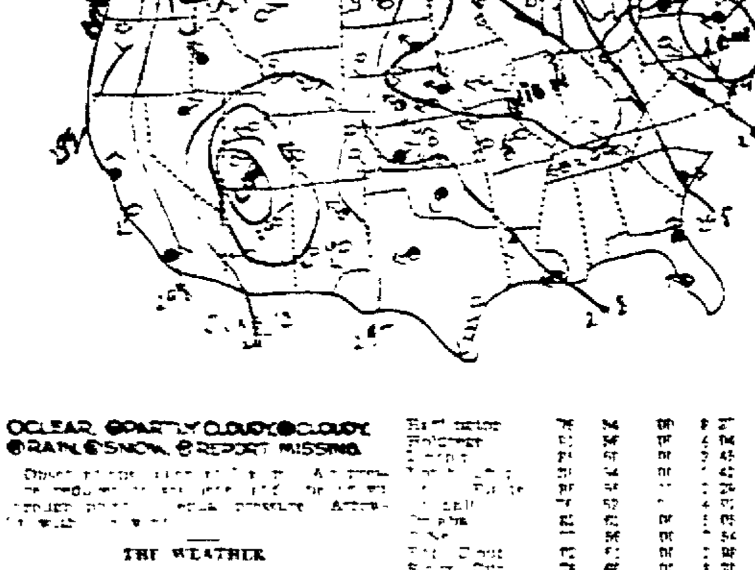

The only sad note is the way the drouth played favorites. Southeastern Kansas received enough rain to produce a fair crop while thousands of acres in western and northern sections of the state were abandoned.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

Painful But Educational.

She played the game fair, but she was betting on the wrong horse The man she loved gave up his wild life and settled down into a self-respecting, responsible man. For over a year he told her how happy he was in finding a real girl and a worth-while, true wife She helped him save his money They had plans for a summer marriage Then—he started running with his old crowd again He spent the money they had saved squandered it on nothings He started running around with a girl who has more money than standards, more beauty than honesty Then he wrote to 'Elizabeth' and told her that he had found he was not good enough for her, that she will be happier with some man who has more stability, and that he will always remember her with tenderness.

So "Elizabeth" thinks her heart is broken and that her pride is being trampled in the dust

It isn't pleasant to go through such an experience But it isn t such an uncommon one and it certainly is nothing to be ashamed of

"Elizabeth" built up ideals for the man which he could not live up to She would not be happy with him as he really is and nothing can change him Some day the man who does have understanding and standards that are compatible to hers will come along and she will appreciate and love him even more for having had this painful experience

Sound Objections.

Dear Minerva I am in my last year of college and am twenty years of age I ve gone steadily with a man the last two years and we plan to marry soon My mother disapproves of him seriously I'll admit that she has some reason for doing so His family, which lives in our town, has a very bad deputation Then, the man I love is working at a very menial position though he does have a brilliant mind and splendid education

Mother begs me to take a teaching position, which I can get for a year or two She says if I will wait this long, she will try to like this man and not object to my going with him, though she will hope that I will change my mind Please advise me We are very much in love and want to marry this summer—ADELINE

A You mother s objections are sound, and her fears have some basis She wants the best of everything for her daughter and cannot happily picture you living in poverty and wed to a man who may have inherited the unfortunate traits displayed by others of his family She is trying to save you from what she fears will be a miserable existence

Play fair with her and grant her the two years that she requests This will give you more time to know both your own mind and the man better You will enjoy your teaching. Accept other dates that you may have some basis for comparison. At the end of the two years you may find that your mother is right and that your own ideas of marriage have changed Or you may find that your love and faith in the man are justified In either case, you will have the glorious conviction that you have done the right thing in waiting, if only for your mother's sake

Answered Briefly.

Gay Why continue to go with the man, when you know he has no idea of marriage Other men will not seek your company when you are seen constantly in the company of this one man

Worried You are an unsophisticated girl, else you would recognize that this man is merely a cheap "two-timer" and that his line is the obvious one always used by the married man who tries to win the affection of a young girl through appealing to her sympathies Have nothing more to do with him Your instinct of mistrust is well founded The fact that he was your father's secretary does not alter the situation Your father trusted him in a business way, but probably knew nothing of him otherwise If your father were living, the man would not dare play the game he is now playing

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS— By John Hix

Lake Constance lies on the northeastern border of Switzerland, next to the southwestern frontier of Germany The lower, or southeastern end of the lake lies against the northwestern boundary of Austria Thus situated, it is bound by the three countries—and is, in fact, under the jurisdiction of each of the nations in part

Germany and Switzerland, which have the largest coastlines on the lake, divide all but the southeastern part of the lake between them, the international boundary cutting through most of the lake lengthwise. Austria's part of the lake is confined to a small rectangular part formed on two sides by the shoreline and on the other two sides lines running north from the south shore and west from the east shore At the point where these lines meet the German-Swiss line in the lake also meets.

At this point about four miles out from the south shore there is a spot in the lake where German waters lie to the north, Austrian to the east, and Swiss to the west Here one could, if he knew the exact location of the spot, anchor a rowboat and fish in three countries at the same time

FIRST STEP FOR MASONIC TEMPLE

Begin Razing Lahr Residence Make Room for New Structure.

The fruition of 25 years planning of six Lincoln Masonic bodies came a step nearer as workmen began razing the old Lahr residence at 1639 L street preparatory to starting construction of a $110,000 Masonic temple

The temple is expected to be completed by January, 1935, and will be the home of Lincoln lodge No 19 Lancaster lodge No 54, Liberty lodge No 300, A F & A M: two York Rite bodies and Electa chapter No 8, O E S

Robert Gray, chairman of the board of directors of the Masonic Building association, stated Wednesday that definite plans had not yet been completed on the construction It has not been decided whether the building will be built of stone or brick The Olson Construction Co. is the general contractor

PUBLIC DEBT AT ALL TIME HIGH

Treasury Anticipates No Trouble In Financing Recovery Plans.

WASHINGTON June 13—(AP)—The gross public debt of the United States will reach an all time high of about $27,000,000 000 on Friday

The wartime peak of $26,596,701,-648 was reached August 31, 1919

Friday is the date of a bond issue of $300,000 000 and a note issue of $500 000 0000 both announced some time ago. The former was eight times oversubscribed and the latter nine times

Treasury officers said that, judging from the reception given these issues, financing of recovery plans would be accomplished without trouble

Senator Robinson, democratic leader, said in a speech last night that congressional appropriations for the next fiscal year would total more than $6,800,000,000

The budget would be "completely balanced" by 1936 or 1937, he said, provided the "necessity for supplying the sustenance for larger numbers of our population has in the meantime passed"

He declared that the American people, in looking over the accomplishments of the administration and congress in the last six months, would say "Well done"

One of Two Gunmen Slain In Oklahoma Still Unidentified

MIAMI, Okla June 13—(AP)—Officers today continued attempts to establish full identification of one of two gunmen killed here in an exchange of fire with police

Muskogee and McIntosh county officers who viewed the bodies yesterday asserted one of them was LeRoy Dennison 20 His companion, they said was known to them as "Bill" Both they said, were implicated in the robbery of a Flat River, Mo. bank, May 24

The men were slain early yesterday morning by three Miami officers in a gun battle which also took the life of Jack Dunaway, merchant policeman

MRS. DIONNE ILL; SUFFERS RELAPSE

CALLANDER, Ont., June 13—(INS)—Mrs. Elzire Dionne 25-year-old mother of the famed 16-day-old quintuplet daughters, suffered a serious relapse today when she developed a fever and fainting spells

Mrs Dionne s condition is serious but I would not say that it is critical She is run-down and will be kept in bed for complete rest," said Dr A R. Dafoe

The condition of the babies was reported as being satisfactory and all of the little tots showed substantial increases in weight

Can't Down a Mauk

AMBRIDGE, Pa., June 13—(AP)—Three-year-old James Mauk fell out a second-story window and escaped serious injury, but police reported he broke the concrete sidewalk.

Last fall the boy's father, Clifton A. Mauk, was shot in the back in a hunting accident. Physicians despaired of his life. Within three weeks Mauk was back at work.

All FERA Projects In Douglas County Halted For Month

OMAHA, June 13—(AP)—An order halting FERA work relief projects in Douglas county, affecting 3,500 men, was issued Wednesday by County Director McNeil after a conference last night with T J Edmonds regional director, and State Director Rowland Haynes Sixty-two projects will-stop tonight, McNeil said, with the men now employed transferred to direct relief The action was deemed necessary to stretch the FERA allotment for Douglas county to cover the month of June

Douglas county started this month with $164 000 federal funds for relief purposes On June 11 it had only $56.948 60 left

"It would all have been gone by June 20," said McNeil

Edmonds and Haynes assured the Douglas county group that there would be no more available

BAYER COMPANY FACES CHARGE OF U. S. COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, June 13—(AP)—The federal trade commission charged the Bayer Co., Inc., of New York today with "misrepresentation" in the sale of its aspirin tablets. The commission also said "there are some persons by whom Bayer tablets may not safely be taken even in small or moderate doses"

The company is given until July 13 to show why the commission should not issue an order requiring the company to desist from the alleged misrepresentations.

"Among the practices," the commission's announcement said "are representations in advertising tending to mislead ultimate buyers into believing that only Bayer aspirin is genuine aspirin, that aspirin sold by its competitors is not aspirin, is not as beneficial to the user as Bayer's aspirin, and is counterfeit or spurious.
